PATRIOTS PLAN LAST PROGRAM

Memorial Day Services to Be the Last Under the Auspices of the G. A. R. Post

WILL DEDICATE THE MONUMENT

Will Attend First Methodist Church Ceremonies in Body; Will Decorate Soldiers' Graves

(BY JUDGE EDWARD CRONON.)

On Sunday morning, May 25, the G. A. R. posts, W. R. C., S. W. V. S. of V., S. W. V. A. and S. of V. A., will meet at the court house at 10:30 o'clock a. m. and march to the First Methodist Episcopal church, Eighth and King streets, to attend services, which will be held at 11 a. m. After the services the several bodies will march back to the court house and be dismissed.

In the afternoon, at 2 p. m., those in charge of the decorating of the graves will meet at the court house and procure flags for the several cemeteries. They will then go to the cemeteries and flag the graves in their respective sections. It is expected that those who are detailed for this work will be on hand at this time.

Memorial day, May 30, exercises will be somewhat different from those of former years; the dedication of the soldiers' monument and all other ceremonies will be held in the forenoon; there will be no parade in the afternoon as in former years.

The members of the posts, W. R. C., S. W. V., S. of V., S. of V. A., S. W. V. A. and school children will meet at the court house at 8:30 a. m., May 30. There the several sections will be formed by those in charge; and it is urged upon those in charge of the sections that due diligence be made to have all ready to march at 9 o'clock sharp. Time is an element which must not be lost sight of if we would be successful in our work.

The exercises this year will be the most elaborate ever held in this city; not only are the graves to be decorated but the soldiers' monument, erected by Wilson Colwell post, will be dedicated at this time. This will be an event in the history of the post, to which the members have looked forward to with great anticipation. This will be the "mecca" for the G. A. R. while living, and for their families and friends after "taps" have been sounded for them. With the above facts before us, we would ask the good people of our beautiful city to join with us in the proper observance of the day by wearing a silk flag on their left breasts and take part in the dedication of the monument. If you do this we feel sure that you will applaud the members of the post and their citizen friends who assisted them financially in its erection.

The erection of the monument at this time is a fitting climax to the activities of the Grand Army, as hereafter the members will turn over the Memorial day work to the younger men of the S. W. V and S. of V.

On Memorial day morning, at 8:30, all who are to take part in the services will meet at the court house and form the school children in line for the several sections in the cemeteries, and be in readiness to march at 9 o'clock. The order of march will be east on State street to Twelfth street, thence north to the cemetery. The band will lead with companies M and B as escort to the G. A. R. with the S. W. V. and S. of V. following; then the school children with their flags flying as they march along the way.

At the Catholic and Jewish cemeteries, those who decorate at these places will meet at the court house at 8:30 in the morning, get their flags to carry and take street cars to the cemeteries, and when the exercises are completed there, take cars back and go to Oak Grove cemetery, and there take in the exercises of the dedication of the soldiers' monument. There will be time to do all this, and the opportunity will be given to all who wish. We want everybody, young and old, to be present, as the occasion may be once in a lifetime, when an opportunity is given to witness and hear the patriotic program outlined for the services.

Patriotic Program

The following is the outline of exercises at the monument: After the graves have all been decorated, the "assembly" will be sounded and all will proceed to the soldiers' lot where the monument stands. There the Rev. T. Stanley Oadams will offer the invocation.

KEEP A DOCTOR NEAR LAUNDRIES TO HELP HEAT STRICKEN GIRLS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 23.—How the girls in the laundries fainted from the excessive heat in the buildings and had to be carried out on stretchers and revived by physicians always kept within calling distance, was told to the senate wage commission today at its session at the Planters' hotel.

One girl, a bundle wrapper at the American Steam Laundry, 16 years old, who received $5.95 a week, said that during the summer months the girls in that institution often fainted at the folding and wrapping tables. She said she remembered of having counted six girls last summer who were overcome by the heat and had to be carried out and revived. No emergency hospital is provided in this laundry, though a physician is kept within calling distance.

"The heat in the summer is awful," she said.

This girl said she began work when she was 14 years old, at $4.80 a week. She said her increase in wages was due to the fact that her hours were increased from eight to nine after working there for about a year. She is helping her mother support the family of three.

The second girl from this laundry said she began working when 14 years old because she did not like to go to school, though she "didn't have to work, as papa was working."

FORMER ALLIES IN DESPERATE BATTLE

Bulgarians and Greeks in Fierce Conflict Near City of Salonika

EACH BLAMES THE OTHER COUNTRY

Statements from Sofia and Athens Claim that the Other Side Is Aggressor

ATHENS, May 23.—The Bulgarian attack on the Greeks in the Panghaion district, near Salonika, continued with unabated fierceness today, with the Bulgarians using artillery along their whole line.

It was stated here that the Bulgarians were the aggressors and that while the Greeks are defending themselves, this government is making a strong protest at Sofia.

When hostilities against Turkey ceased the Greeks and Bulgarians agreed on a neutral zone around Salonika, including the Panghaion district, where fighting now is going on. It is charged that the Bulgarians violated the neutrality zone agreement last Tuesday. Desultory fighting took place then and on the following day and yesterday the battle is said to have raged for 24 hours.

King Constantine and his staff set out this afternoon for Salonika, where the king will take personal command of the Greep troops now engaged against Bulgaria.

SOFIA, May 23.—An official statement by the Bulgarian foreign office today asserted that the Greeks are the aggressors in the fighting now going on near Salonika.

DEMOCRATS FAVOR PLAN

WASHINGTON, May 23.—No word of serious opposition to the Ashurst bill proposing to establish a government plant for the manufacture of armor plate was heard among the democrats in the senate membership today. Republicans indicated they would oppose any immediate action on the ground that sufficient information as to the cost of making armor plate under government auspices has not been obtained.

PROBE MEETS MONDAY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 23.—The first open meeting of the senate white slavery investigation committee since the clearing of charges against Lieut. Gov. O'Hara, will be held at Hotel La Salle in Chicago at ten o'clock on Monday morning. The meeting was announced today by the lieutenant governor.

GAS EXPLODES RANGE

MILWAUKEE, May 23.—Two persons were slightly injured and half a dozen had a miraculous escape from death when accumulated gas exploded in a kitchen range at the home of Mrs. Susan O'Donnell, shortly before noon today. The stove was blown to pieces and the injured were struck by flying pieces of metal.

TO VACATE LOTS FOR ARMORY BUILDING

The contract for the wrecking of the old "Second Ward school" building on Fourth and King streets, was awarded to the La Crosse Wrecking company today by Company B of the Governors' Guard association. The work of tearing down the old building will be started on or before June 1 and it is expected that the lot will be cleared within sixty days.

It is the hope of the officers of the association that the plans for the erection of the new armory on the school grounds will be completed by the time the present building is removed.

The new building will cost at least $30,000, the larger part of which is already subscribed, and it may cost $50,000. The building will contain a large auditorium besides the armory proper and will be of great public service to the city.

HOME MADE WEEK PROVES ITS WORTH

One Exhibitor Already Places an Order When He Prepares for Display

NEW APPLICATIONS ARE RECEIVED

Band Concerts to Add to Attraction of Display of Home Made Products

HOME MADE WEEK showed its first results in increased business for local manufacturers today, when R. F. Staats, of the Staats Pennant company on the north side, booked an order for fifty dollars worth of work from the John C. Burns fruit house.

Mr. Staats had been assigned space in the Burns Windows for his exhibit during HOME MADE WEEK. When he called to examine the space he will have to work with, he got into conversation with Mr. Burns and promptly booked the order.

"I have covered the territory for 200 miles around La Crosse hunting that kind of order," Mr. Staats said today, "and I have been overlooking business at home, it seems. I thought I was doing business in up-to-date style, but HOME MADE WEEK will teach me how to be up to the minute, I believe."

The board of trade committee which has in hand the allotment of window space for the exhibition today announced that several new applications for space have been received since the list was published yesterday. The latest space allotments were made as follows: The Trepte Ornamental Iron Works in the S. Gantert building; LaCrosse Plumbing Suply company, on the street at Third and Main; W. F. Benton company, Doerflinger's store; J. J. Hogan and company, in Miss Lennon's store.

Several band concerts are planned for the evenings of HOME MADE WEEK and it is expected that large crowds will be induced to promenade the streets where the exhibition is held.

Owing to unforseen circumstances the big business men's six o'clock dinner which had been planned Monday evening to open the Home Made Week, has been postponed until Thursday evening. A. L. Goetzman, manager of the Listman Mills, will deliver an address at the dinner and it is expected that some other speakers will be obtained for the evening.

BEAR DEVOURS GIRL

TRUCKEE, Cal., May 23.—Killed and partially eaten by a grizzly bear was the fate of Miss Vinnie Colt, age 18, who disappeared from her home here a week ago. This was revealed today when her body, partially devoured, was found twenty miles from here in the Sierra Nevadas. All around the corpse were tracks indicating a huge bear had slain the girl. Last week Miss Colt ran away from home after a quarrel with her mother. Evidently she wandered into the mountains.

UPHOLDS WEBB BILL

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Declaring that the unrestricted admission of aliens would ruin the United States farmer by throwing lands in the hands of great corporations who would people it with cheap imported labor—as he claimed has been done in California—Representative Sisson of Mississippi continued his defense of the California anti-alien land law, in the house today.

ELEVATOR FOR POST OFFICE

Congressman John J. Esch was notified today that bids on the construction of an elevator in the La Crosse post office building will be opened in the office of federal superintendent of architecture in Washington June 3. Owing to the rapidly increasing business in the La Crosse federal building an elevator has become a real necessity and it will be installed within the next month.

JAPANESE FEAR FOR THE MIKADO

Young Emperor Seriously Ill and His Temperature Mounts to Dangerous Point

MAY DELAY WEBB CONTROVERSY

Japs Will Take No Action Toward United States While Ruler Is Ill

TOKIO, May 23.—While the official bulletins issued from the Ayoama palace today reiterated that there was no cause for grave alarm in the condition of Emperor Yoshihito, it was said that his temperature had risen to 103.6 degrees with pulse at 90, and respiration 30.

The people are very apprehensive and inquiries poured in from all parts of the empire while scores prayed in the streets nearest the palace.

Arthur Bailly-Blanchard, secretary of the United States embassy and charge d'affaires, today was among the first visitors to the Ayoama palace, inquiring after the health of the emperor.

The people are gravely concerned for the life of the mikado as they recall vividly that in the case of the late emperor Mutsuhito, the attending physicians issued no bulletins until his imperial majesty was beyond hope.

It was doubtful today what effect the illness of Emperor Yoshihito would have on the Japanese-United States alien land owning controversy. It was believed probable that the foreign office would neither make public the reply of the United States nor formulate an answer while the life of the emperor is in doubt.

HARRY POTTER IS CALLED BY DEATH

Well Known La Crescent Farmer Passes Away After Brief Illness from Brain Attack

Harry Potter died at the home of his mother, Mrs. Whitman B. Potter, in La Crescent, at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. Death resulted from an affection of the brain, the illness having been of brief duration.

The late Whitman B. Potter, father of deceased, was a pioneer of La Crescent and La Crosse, prominently known here, and a property holder in both places. Harry Potter is survived by his mother and two sisters, Mrs. C. W. Turnbull, of Albert Lea, Minn., and Mrs. Edward Landers of Melrose, Wis.

Mr. Potter had farmed in western Minnesota and at the time of his death was engaged in farming in La Crescent. He had also been connected with the main service there.

BOY SWALLOWS NAIL

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., May 23.—Two year old Tommy Branch of Bondville, went out in the back yard today to play in the sand pile, unmindful of the fact that an eight penny nail, lodged in his stomach, may cause his death. Tommy swallowed the nail while his playmates looked on in admiration. Physicians located the nail with an X-ray, but refused to remove it until the boy shows signs of distress.

THIRTY DAYS FOR PAIR DIRECT RESULT OF RIP IN SEAT OF THE PANTS

Excessive modesty and a desire to help a friend landed Edward Hardy and Grover Morgan, both of Marion, Ohio, in the La Crosse county jail today for thirty day terms because Hardy tore his pants and Morgan "swiped" another pair for him.

The Ohio boys were on their way to Minneapolis, where one of them has an uncle and where both had promises of jobs. They told Judge John Brindley in county court today that they had $43 when they started out but the money was stolen from them. Hence they were forced to beat their way. When they got to La Crosse they decided to get out of their box car to stretch their legs and get a snif of air. Then their troubles began. As Hardy slid out of the door of the car he heard a sickening tear and he left the entire backside of his pants hanging on a nail. He promptly crawled back to the car while his friend Morgan went out on a foraging expedition. Morgan found a pair of pants hanging in a caboose nearby and, acting on the theory that the need justified the means, took the trousers to his friend. The objections of the owners resulted in their arrest. In court they admitted their guilt and there was nothing for it but a jail sentence.

"And the first day the sun had shone for two weeks," said Morgan as he and his friend ruefully fell into step with Sheriff John Weber.

SOUND KNELL OF THE BULL MOOSE

Republicans at Minnesota Banquet Predict Quick Reorganization of G. O. P.

DENOUNCE WILSON TARIFF STAND

Four Congressmen Unite in Finding Fault with the Democratic Measure

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 23.—That the reorganization of the republican party is near at hand and that the progressive party is a thing of the past, was the tenor of the addresses made at the banquet in honor of Congressman Manahan of Minnesota here last night.

Senator Robert M. La Follette was hailed as the first progressive by Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin. "When La Follette first went to Washington he stood alone as an advocate of progressive policies," said Mr. Lenroot. "Mr. Roosevelt was then president; but nevertheless I say Mr. La Follette had to stand alone."

A tariff commission to solve the tariff problem was advocated by the speakers and the handling of the tariff by the democrats was denounced in the most scathing terms.

Main Objections

The main objections to the measure of the four republican representatives who were present were:

I. L. Lenroot, Superior, Wis.—The bill was made and passed in a secret party caucus, and the democrats gagged and bound to vote for it without amendments even when glaring inconsistencies were pointed out to them.

Sydney Anderson of Lanesboro, Minn.—The bill was drawn without adequate information on the tariff question, by the ways and means committee of the old congress, and was passed out of the new ways and means committee at its first meeting.

James Frear, Hudson, Wis.—The measure was forced through by the president with the use of the patronage club.

James Manahan, St. Paul, Minn.—It is a sectional measures which strikes at the agricultural industry of the central and northwestern states.

"Except on the tariff, I see little difference between President Wilson and a progressive republican," said Lenroot. "On the tariff he is academic instead of practical."

Anderson Offers Remedies

Sydney Anderson declared that among the things needed for the rehabilitation of the republican party are a new basis of representation in national conventions, recognition of primary laws and regulations which will make the national committee something more than a self perpetuating machine.

30 HURT IN WRECK

CALGARY, Ala., May 23.—Thirty persons were injured early today when two coaches of the Imperial limited express on the Canadian Pacific left the rails at Mitford, 40 miles west of here and rolled down a steep embankment. Among the most seriously injured: W. D. Leonard, of Portland, Ore.; Otto Merkle, Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. A. Knott, Calgary.

A special train carrying the injured arrived here today. Fifteen of the wreck victims were Chinese.

BIG CHECK FRAUD CHARGED IN SUIT

Crandon and Elroy Bankers and Marinette Man Accused of Large Swindle

"KITED" MILLION IN BOGUS PAPER

A. J. Eidsmoe Pleads Guilty and Is Sentenced to Leavenworth Prison

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 23.—"Now you see it and now you don't," one of the inside plays of frenzied finance, known in bank parlance as "kiting checks," was explained before Judge Geiger in United States court yesterday in the government's suit against George W. Price, Marinette, and John E. Hart, Elroy, who, it is said, conspired with Albert J. Eidsmoe to defraud the Crandon National bank and Elroy State bank out of over $36,000.

Over $1,000,000 in worthless checks were "kited" between the Crandon bank and the Elroy bank on the account of Price, in the scheme to extract real money from the vaults of these two institutions, according to the testimony of National Bank Examiner Harry L. George of Pennsylvania, one of the witnesses in the trial.

$36,110 in Cash Drawn Out

Between Jan. 7 and July 25, 1910, the bank examiner testified, Price drew checks on the Crandon bank aggregating $563,156.47 and placed them in the Elroy bank; at Crandon he deposited checks for $543,240.84, drawn on the Elroy bank.

By the "kiting" process $36,110 in actual cash was transferred from the Crandon bank to the Elroy bank, and drawn out by check from Elroy by Price, Mr. George testified. At the close of the watered transactions the Crandon bank still held $9,800 in checks drawn on Elroy, and the Elroy bank held $26,220 in checks on the Crandon bank. These are the amounts which the two banks are out, according to the bank examiner.

Crandon Cashier Sentenced

The Crandon bank entered into a scheme with Price to draw a fictious draft for $27,000, the government's experts say, and when it was discovered that the bank examiners might find out what was going on, Eidsmoe, Hart and Price at a conference agreed that Price's checks would be honored in order to allay all suspicion.

Eidsmoe was cashier of the Crandon bank and Hart president of the Elroy institution. It was with the connivance of these two men that Mr. Price was able to carry out his plan, according to the government's evidence. Eidsmoe has pleaded guilty to the charges of embezzlement and conspiracy and has been sentenced to Leavenworth prison.

SOCIALISTS SEE HATFIELD

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 23.—Eugene V. Debs, Victor Berger of Wisconsin, and several other leading socialists, conferred today with Governor Hatfield on West Virginia labor conditions. Before meeting Berger and Debs, Governor Hatfield had released from jail the socialist party leaders in this state, who had been charged with inciting riots in the Paint and Cabin Creeks coal fields.

BANKERS CONVENE HERE ON MONDAY

Group No. 7 of State Association Will Meet in the City Hall of La Crosse

LA CROSSE MEN ON THE PROGRAM

Launch Ride on Mississippi River and Informal Dinner at Stoddard Entertainment

Paper—not the kind used to wrap up groceries or to write on or that which is hung upon the wall—but paper that represents collateral, investment, obligation or promise will be the principal subject of discussion with cash, cold, hard and scarce—how to get it and what to do with it—a close second, when seventy-five men representing the capital of western Wisconsin convene in the city hall of La Crosse Monday morning.

For the men assembled in convention will be the members of Group No. 7 of the Wisconsin Bankers' association in their eighth annual meeting.

Every delegate to the convention will be expected to take part in the discussion which will be expedited by means of a roll call. The three topics of general argument will be taken up in the roll call as follows:

1. Overdue paper, how kept to produce most prompt adjustment.
2. What form of advertising pays best for country banks.
3. Should commercial houses in requesting ratings, or firms in sending sight drafts for collections, be required with original letter, to enclose a reasonable amount for services to be rendered.

Following the roll call discussion President J. A. Thwing, cashier of the Security Savings bank, La Crosse, will deliver the annual address of the president, after which Walter E. Sprecher, cashier of the State Bank of Independence, will read the report of the secretary and treasurer.

The appointment of resolutions and nominating committees and a talk on "Good Roads" by F. A. Cannon, secretary of the Citizens' Business league of Milwaukee, will close the morning session.

The bankers will reconvene at two o'clock in the afternoon to hear a discussion on "Commercial Paper," by Arthur H. Lindsay, vice president of the Marine National Bank of Milwaukee, and one on the "Negotiability of Checks" by Attorney Charles Schweizer of this city.

With the reports of the committees and the election of officers the convention will adjourn.

Entertainment for the visiting bankers has been provided in a launch ride in the evening on the Mississippi river and an informal dinner at the Stoddard Hotel. The privileges of the La Crosse and Elks clubs will be extended to the visiting members and their wives.

J. M. Holley, Jr., H. O. Klein, R. C. Whelpley, Robert Lowry and J. A. Thwing are the members of the local committee on arrangements. A through sleeper to Grand Rapids, leaving La Crosse the night of May 28, has been provided so as to allow the delegates to attend the meeting of Group No. 6. All train service in and from La Crosse has been carefully outlined on the program sent the members of the association.

TUMULTY KEEPS BOOKS ON PARTY

Has Leather Covered Ledger Containing Up-to-Date Tale of State Scraps

BY BURTON K. STANDISH
(Written for the United Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 20. — The hopes and happiness of many democrats hang on the contents of a black, leather-covered loose leaf ledger that lies on the desk of Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson. There is little about the outside of the book to attract attention and were it not for the fact that the book is always taken home when Secretary Tumulty leaves for the day, knowledge of its existence would probably never have become known.

The book is indexed and today it developed that there is at least one page for every state in the union, while some states have half a dozen. And the pages are covered with minute stenographic entries which Tumulty proudly boasts could hardly be read by anyone but himself. Within the covers are statements of the exact political situation existing in the democratic party in each of the states, names and data about job hunters and the men who, having no desire themselves for jobs, are trying to hold the veto power over those who actually are seeking government employmnt. The whole is an application to the affairs of the United States of a little plan that Tumulty tried out first in his law practice in Jersey City, later as a member of the assembly and finally as secretary to Governor Wilson. He jots down everything that he hears about a state situation. The various delegations which call to get the president's ear are always anxious to talk to Tumulty. He is a good listener and the leader who is having trouble getting places for the faithful can be assured that he will get a cordial hearing and much sympathy from the president's secretary. But there is one thing that few of them have as yet found out, and that is that the "high spots" of their statements to Tumulty are made a part of his private records.

Word is Final

And in the various states where there is a real fight on, Tumulty's notes will be the "final word" when the president of the United States takes up for settlement the various difficult problems of patronage in those sections. In addition to the gossip, there is placed in this little book in black and white the results of Tumulty's independent investigations of the charges and counter charges made by men who have called upon him—the opinions of the merits of their claims to dictatorship, and his opinions of their standing as business men and executives.

And it will surprise many of those who are now insisting that they are the only real simon pure, blown in the bottle and dyed in the wool Wilson men, that Secretary Tumulty has their real number in black and white in the pages of his little book. He has copious notes on verbal attacks all these men may have made on the New Jersey governor before he was taken seriously as a presidential candidate. Also the little book contains a correct record of how hard every one of the democratic leaders did or did not work during the recent campaign. Perhaps some of the men who made these attacks immediately before and immediately after the convention have marveled at the, what seemed to them, superhuman memory of this New Jerseyite when he intimated that certain of them were inconsistent in regard to statements then and at the present time. Well, there's the answer—in a little, innocent looking, black leather covered loose leaf ledger.

Secretary Tumulty is a canny Irishman. He probably figured while acting as secretary to the governor of New Jersey that when the official was moved up to the white house, he might deeply appreciate some real facts and some real figures about possible seekers after office. Secretary Tumulty has these statistics in his possession now and they are available at all times to the president. That little book of Tumulty's is indeed one of the "powers behind the throne." And it's a perfectly fair and wise counselor.

Biographies Amuse

Biographies of our new statesmen, as embodied in the third person narratives in the Congressional Directory, are furnishing a good deal of amusement to the veteran congressmen. The members always write their own "puffs" and some of the biographies are practically all "puff." One ingenious veteran, putting some of the statements in the first person instead of the third, evolved the following as representing what the congressmen named think of themselves: "I am the first native born, and the youngest man to represent the 'Monkey Wrench' district.—Congressman Connelly of Iowa." "I was educated in the school of hard knocks.—Congressman Hinebaugh of Illinois." "I ran between 3,000 and 5,000 ahead of the national ticket and state ticket, which proves conclusively that the people of Colorado are wide awake to the needs of fair and equitable transportation.—Congressman Kindel, of Colorado." "I was considered one of the ablest and most popular judges in Kansas and have been slated for a federal judgeship. As senator I will not only bring honor to myself but to state and nation as well.—Senator William N. Thompson of Kansas." "I became a candidate for the sixty-third congress, but did not expect to be elected and made no campaign.—Congressman Clancy of New York."

Won by the Change of a Letter.

Thaddeus Stevens once saved a man's life by a single letter. He was defending a prisoner indicted for murder, and the chief witness against the culprit testified that he had heard him exclaim, "By heaven, I have shot him!"

The great Stevens insisted that maybe the prisoner had said, "My heaven, I have shot him!"

The change of the letter "b" to an "m" in the first word of the sentence would make a mighty difference, since the latter expression might be one of surprise or exclamation over an accidental shooting. The witness confessed that perhaps the prisoner had said "my" instead of "by," and the jury freed him.

While the season is always open for fortune hunting, few of the hunters are good shots.

Healthy Baby Is Precious Blessing

To Make it Healthy and Keep it Healthy Use a Reliable Laxative
Healthy Use a Reliable Baby Laxative

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet, babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But as we cannot all have perfect working bowels we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative-tonic very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Its mildness makes it the ideal medicine for children, and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It is sure in its effect and genuinely harmless. Very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect, as is the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headache, etc., among them reliable people like Mrs. M. Johnson, 752 Dayton St., Kenosha, Wis. She is the mother of little Dorothy Johnson who was always in delicate health until her mother gave her Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. Johnson says: "I never saw such rapid improvement in the health of anyone. Syrup Pepsin is a wonderful remedy and I shall never be without it again." Thousands keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system.

DOROTHY JOHNSON

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be maied you.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Biddy Tried to Take Mollie's Kittens.

The Hen Took Cha of the Kittens.

JACK and Evelyn were ready for bed—that is, they would be ready soon as daddy had finished his story.

"And the story is to be about Mollie," daddy began, "lovely Mo the pussy cat pet of a family that lives on Long Island.

"The nice white house in which the family lives stands in a big g yard, and back of that is the barn and stable in a yard all by themselves.

"In the barn are a cow and chickens and other interesting creatures. horses live in the stables, and the dogs have cozy houses of their own. Ye is a very nice home.

"And Mollie lives all over the place. She is such a nice cat that even cook doesn't mind letting her stay in the kitchen when she has to go Mollie never takes food unless it is given to her.

"Mollie is such a fine mouse catcher that the cook is very fond of her feeds her so much that Mollie is never hungry, so of course she has no re to steal, as half fed cats nearly always will do.

"But because of the many mice that live there Mollie likes the barn be than any other building about the place. She takes naps in the hay mow in the hay filled boxes in which the hens lay their eggs.

"There is one box in a dark corner near her favorite mouse hole that lie particularly likes. The box belongs to old Mrs. Biddy, and when one the hen came back from a scratching trip to the barnyard and found four kittens there Mrs. Biddy's motherly old heart was filled with joy.

"'Well,' said she, 'it was very kind of Mollie to leave these little d for me.'

"Mrs. Biddy knew how little chicks should be cared for. She had enough families of her own to know. So she fluttered into the box and dled the kittens under her wings. Nice and warm as this feathered mo was, the kittens wanted their own furry one, and they soon began to mew

"Mollie on her way back from the house heard them and hurried. W she peeped into the box and saw that Mrs. Biddy was mothering her own kittens Mollie was mad right through. With an angry yowl she l her paw and slapped Mrs. Biddy over the head. Mrs. Biddy was angry and she pecked crossly at Mollie. The two had a grand fight, and Mollie the worst of it. She had to go to the house and by her cries get her mis to follow her to the barn. Everybody laughed at the cat and the hen, wanted to kidnap the kittens, but, of course, the pussy was given her y ones. They were put in a box in the stable, and Mollie was so careful whenever a hen poked its beak into the stable she chased it away."

TAKES THE MEASURE OF "PROGRESSIVE" SHERMAN

Upon his election by the Illinois legislature Senator Sherman declared that he would align himself with the progressive republicans. This statement was probably taken generally with a grain of salt, for Mr. Sherman was known as a politician with conservative tendencies. In its recent issue The Public reinforces the usual feeling as to Senator Sherman's political status by the following editorial:

"When in his Douglas-day speech at Springfield last week, Senator Sherman, a traditional republican of today, quoted from Stephen A. Douglas, a traditional democrat of half a century ago, the 'Little Giant's' vigorous defense of the courts, right or wrong, making those quotations an argument against the judicial recall, did he realize that the words he quoted were originally uttered in behalf of the infamous Dred Scott decision and as a rebuke to Abraham Lincoln's criticisms of the supreme court's decision in that case?"

Evidently Mr. Sherman of today is not less conservative than was the Douglas of anti-bellum days, nor as much a progressive as the Lincoln of that period. To get an accurate measure of his position one must imagine where he would have stood in the political councils of the nation prior to the Civil war.

THE PHRASE THAT BURNS

Now that Woodrow Wilson's "New Freedom" is securing the wide reading that its intrinsic merits deserve some are objecting to it because it contains so many generalities. They say that the problems of a country never were solved by generalities and seem to think that the president should have given the public, instead of broad views on the tariff, the exact particulars in which the chemical or the wool schedule is wrong.

In his first message to congress Mr. Wilson thus concentrated his tariff views: "We long ago passed beyond the modest motion of protecting the industries of the country and moved boldly forward to the idea that they were entitled to the direct patronage of the government. At last nothing is normal, nothing is obliged to stand the tests of efficiency and economy, but everything thrives by concerted arrangement."

That is a generality, but it is a generality that can be and is being applied in a very practical way. In such generalities is wisdom and guidance. Generalities like this simply take conditions as a whole and pack them into a few sentences that picture the entire situation.

History hardly would be what it is were it not for the stirring generalities particular crises have called forth.

"No taxation without representation" is the generality on which this country was founded.

"Give us liberty or give us death," is a generality.

"Millions for defense but not one cent for tribute," is another. Many of our current phrases, like "progressive government," "rule of the people," "special privilege," and others that might be cited, are generalities in which we have condensed the experience gained in numberless specific instances.

The trouble with many generalities is that they are simply generalities, not intended to be applied. We all know men who rant about the "evils of city government" and then forget to vote. We all have met those who preach the golden rule and then turn widows out of their homes.

The generality worth while is the white hot phrase that burns itself into actual human life and experience. Woodrow Wilson has many of these pungent, practical generalities. The American people are the better for hearing them.

THE IMPORTANCE OF SILENCE

If one wants to appreciate the importance of silence, one should read a recent article written by Prof. Thomas H. Dickenson, of the University of Wisconsin; in the main the article had to do with "stage silence." Professor Dickenson had been asked whether, in his opinion, the substance of dramatic art held anything other than speech and action, and he replied, "silence." In elaborating his meaning the professor discussed the value of silence in general, at the beginning. Of it he said:

"To begin with silence is of a good deal of account in every day life. Of course one thinks immediatly of the noise of the city, and the fact that the big politicians are great talkers and so forth. But a little thought convinces us that it isn't noise so much as the absence of noise that is the real thing. Who are the men who make a lasting impression with their lives? More than half the time they are the silent men.

"What is the substance of the thing we respect? Let us say it is simply silence. There is something in silence that gives the impression of strength. In men silence means self-control. Then, too, there is something square and honest about silence, and it stands sedately on the record of what it has done. Silence is stable and permanent. It doesn't question and it doesn't affirm. And it lacks the brash, the quarrelsome, and the vulgar.

"Silence is of so much value that it has been elevated into something of a human principle, a thing men grow up to. We might conceivably say that the record of a man's life is made up of what he leaves unsaid and undone. Carlyle write with veneration of the 'great silent men; the great silent places.' He was one who knew how to be silent. * * * * Wordsworth suggests the inadequacy of action when he writes:

"'Action is transitory—a step, a blow,
The motion of a muscle—this way or that—
'Tis done, and in the after vacancy
We wonder at ourselves like men betrayed.'"

Come to think of it, isn't there a great deal in what Professor Dickenson says? Silence is indeed a factor in personal power, in the lives of men and women. We wish space might permit us to go on and reproduce the writer's splendid analysis of silence as a substance and as a medium in the drama.

When you see a man stop to kick a banana peel off the sidewalk into the gutter, you know what has happened to him sometime in his career.

Mr. Wilson says he enjoys the experience of being president. Well, he will certainly have a good deal of experience before he gets through.

A French scientist declares that man is descended from the bullfrog. Which may account for the croakers.

Secretary Daniels will remove all slang from the navy. He should also send the navy a supply of pink tea.

One flat dweller reports moving part of his effects by parcel post, saving the expense of a van.

A Chicago magician's wife is missing. Perhaps the magician has her concealed in his silk hat.

When a man talks about his principles he usually means his prejudices.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Boneheads

"It seems to me," said Farmer Brown,
"There's a lot of boneheads runnin' aroun'.
You see 'em every place you go;
You see 'em in church and at a show.
You see 'em around in oatmobiles
And in cafes, takin' meals.
When you see ten people, you've got a hunch
That there are nine boneheads in the bunch.
Fer most every person you see today
Is a bonehead in some sort of way;
For each one has got some durn-fool fad
That the rest of the people think is bad.
You think that some feller is crazy but
He also thinks that you are a nut.
When you git down to the real brass tacks
And come to face the actual facts,
We are all batty on some one thing,
We think we kin act or we can sing!
We think we kin criticise fine art,
We're batty about our benzine cart,
Or else we're foolish on politics,
And glory in throwin' the verbal bricks.
There ain't no feller who hasn't got
Some eccentricity or soft spot.
And so you see how it comes to pass
That we all break into the bonehead class."

An Enjoyable Sunset

'Twas eventide. The small lad stood on the bridge clapping his hands vigorously. Beyond the brow of the hill a dull red glow suffused the sky.

"Ah, little boy," remarked the stranger, who was a little near sighted, "it does my heart good to see you appreciate yon cloud effect."

"Yes, sir," replied the lad, 'I've been watching it for ten minutes."

Upon the boy's face there appeared a smile of perfect bliss.

"A real poet without a doubt! And do you watch the sunsets often, little boy?"

"Sunsets? Why, that ain't a sunset, gov'nor, that's the village school house burning down."—What to Eat.

Perpetual Motion

"What a lively baby!" said Flaherty. 'Have ye had his picture took yet, I dunno?"

"Not yet," said Fogerty, the proud father. "We thried to, but afther an hour's lost labor the photygrafter rayferred us to a moving-picture studio."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Never at a Loss

The Earl of Morley, on his return from Jamaica, remained a while in New York, and at a dinner there he told, apropos of self-confidence, a story about a young English statesman.

"This youth," Lord Morley said, "ought to get on. He works hard, and nothing ever feases him.

"He wanted recently to push a bill that had little support from his own party. A friend, however, said to him in a warning voice:

"'But suppose, my boy, this bill should cause your party to throw you overboard?'

"Well, in that case, old chap,' he replied, 'I'm quite sure I'd have strength enough to swim to the other side.'"

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

PETER'S GHOST

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

John Gilroy flung on his Norfolk coat; picked up his stout walking stick and lit his meerschaum pipe. There was little joy in his movements, because this was the first walk he had taken without Peter.

Peter had been the beloved, full-blooded mongrel belonging to Gilroy, and had resembled nothing so much as an overgrown calf not only in bulk but also in grace of movement. But Peter was no longer.

Gilroy had come home from a short business trip only to see Peter's great collar lying draggled in the street, and to hear a small urchin's story of having seen the "pound man" leading Peter into the wagon.

Gilroy ground his teeth. He would have enjoyed having that man by the neck. Deep in his heart he knew that ePter must have been in a measure responsible for his capture because of a trick he had of working the collar from his neck. Peter had always loathed restraint of any kind.

The poundmaster had no doubt disposed of Peter; those things were speedily attended to and Gilroy bemoaned the loss of his dog more than he thought possible.

The day was rainy and fog-hung. Gilroy began to feel that somewhere in that dog kingdom Peter was missing him even as he missed Peter. He turned on to Riverside drive and found himself glowering at every person—man, woman or child—who claimed the companionship of a canine friend. In the drizzling rain his pipe had gone out and he was far too gloomy to attempt to keep it in his mouth. It reminded him of Peter. In fact, it had been selected merely because the head of a great shaggy dog was carved upon it. He rammed it deep into his pocket and walked on gloomily. Even the heavy walking stick that Peter loved to carry in his huge jaw irritated Gilroy because Peter could no longer beg for the privilege of carrying it.

"What is a walk or a fireside without a dog to share it?" muttered Gilroy as he turned onto the walk that led to the seat often occupied by Peter and himself.

He rounded a sharp turn and fell back against the stone wall, almost losing his balance.

There was Peter! And Peter scenting his beloved master, had made one leap from the small, incapable hand that had striven to hold him, and, with a joyous bark that sounded like the rumble of happy lions, precipitated himself full upon Gilroy.

Not only did Peter throw his own huge body upon his old master, but he partially succeeded in dragging the slim girlish figure of his new mistress with him.

"Peter—good old Peter, resurrected—by Jove!" cried Gilroy, and in his joy was scarcely aware of the astonished and mutinous eyes that were regarding him.

"Bruno! Come here immediately!" demanded an indignant feminine voice and then Gilroy gazed up and into the girl's eyes.

"Call him Peter—and he may obey—but I doubt it," said Gilroy and raised his tweed cap. 'He is my dog and his name is Peter."

"I beg your pardon. He is my dog and his name is Bruno!" flashed back Patricia Goodrich.

Gilroy smiled and attempted to ward off the too strenuous greetings of Peter. His smile of possession irritated Patricia to the extent of bringing a high color to her cheeks.

"I purchased his release from the pound and also bought his new collar," she informed Gilroy with her nose well in the air. Then she smiled, for Peter had slipped back to her side and pushed his great nose within the curve of her arm. She met the peculiar expression that was half jealousy and half admiration in Gilroy's eyes with an added blush.

"Peter is torn between conflicting affections," he said, and in his frank smile Patricia found a desire to like the master of Peter. It was quite evident that the dog was more than partial to his old master, yet also found certain happiness with his new mistress.

"Peter hates a leash," said Gilroy.

"I did not intend to keep him on one—it was only until he grew to like me well enough to come with me," admitted Patricia.

"I doubt if Peter would find that difficult," thought Gilroy. Aloud he said:

"But why in this broad green earth did you select Peter for a lapdog? He hasn't one ounce of decent, respectable blood in his entire cow-like frame. Have you Peter—old boy?" He stroked the dog's head with a touch that brought a twinge of jealousy as keen as it was unexpected into Patricia's heart. Gilroy, looking up, quickly caught her expression and wondered at it.

"You should have picked out a King Charles and put a large pink bow on his neck—instead of this elephant," he told her.

"I detest small dogs and I abhor pink bows," flashed Patricia with scarcely repressed merriment. "I like tiny dogs as little as I like small men."

Gilroy unconsciously glanced down at the satisfactory distance between his own eyes and the ground. When he again met Patricia's eyes they were laughing frankly.

"But this is not settling the question of ownership of Pet—Bruno," Gilroy said, and put his hand again on the dog's head. All unconsciously, Patricia, too, claimed to the right to fondle the dog, and her hand touched that of Gilroy. They drew swiftly apart.

"Oh-h—please call him Peter," put in the girl quickly, and her eyes remained hidden. "I wouldn't be happy with him if I thought you were missing him so much."

"And I could not be happy with him knowing that you wanted him enough to get him a new license and collar," returned Gilroy.

Peter himself seemed highly pleased at the discussion. He remained seated on his great haunches between them, nor did he indicate by so much as an impatient wag of the tail a desire to separate his new and his old owners.

"And on the other hand," continued Gilroy because Patricia had not spoken and the silence was beginning to palpitate with new sensations, "I know that Peter will not go home with you now and he would drag you every step of the way to my bachelor home—that is," he laughed, "if you succeeded in hanging on to his leash."

Patricia smiled a trifle wistfully.

"In that case I will have to ask you to walk home with me—if you do not mind. Peter, I am sure will be willing to go if you are along."

Peter seemed to like the idea. He first begged for his master's walking stick, and having got it walked immediately ahead of Gilroy and Patricia.

The sun had come out and Gilroy again lit his pipe. Also he had ceased to glower at those who passed him with either feminine or canine companions.

"I have gone them all one step better," he ruminated, and cast a pleased glance at the girl beside him. "I feel," he said before he left her, "that we can come to a satisfactory understanding regarding Peter. He and I generally like the same people and I see that he already likes you."

Patricia flashed him a sweetly mocking glance.

"Peter and I also have tastes in common," she said.

"He is inordinately fond of me," laughed Gilroy.

"I refuse to take back my statement," Patricia told him.

The Cock Lane Ghost.

One of the most famous "ghosts" in history was known as the Cock lane ghost. It was in 1762 that mysterious knocking and scratching were heard at a house in Cock lane, London, and were said to be the work of the spirit of a young woman who had lived in the house and was buried in the neighborhood church of St. John. Thousands visited the house until a careful investigation was made in the presence of Dr. Johnson and other celebrities, and the ghost was proved to be the creation of a female ventriloquist. The owner of the house was set in the pillory, and the crowd collected a subscription for him. The crowd was on the side of the ghost.

None In Sight.

"Any interesting legends about here?" asked the tourist.

"No," returned the native slowly. "Ain't never seen any, though you may find 'em, I guess, if you hunt in the woods."

Why is the soda cracker today such a universal food?

People ate soda crackers in the old days, it is true—but they bought them from a barrel or box and took them home in a paper bag, their crispness and flavor all gone.

Uneeda Biscuit—soda crackers better than any ever made before—made in the greatest bakeries in the world—baked to perfection—packed to perfection—kept to perfection until you take them, oven-fresh and crisp, from their protecting package. Five cents.

CHICKEN KILLER PAYS THE PENALTY

"Bounce," the Dog Burglar, Is Shot; Many Crimes Charged Against Him

"Bounce," the dog burglar, caught in the act of burrowing his way out of a chicken coop belonging to Theodore Kienahs Tuesday morning, today paid the penalty of his crimes with his life. He was tried, found guilty and ordered shot by Chief of Police John Webber. The execution took place shortly after noon today at the hands of Patrolman Mike Britton, the crack shot of the north side squad. It took only one shot to do the work although another was fired into the dog's brain to make a thorough job of it.

Thus ended one of the most sensational careers in the history of local crime if all the acts charged against "Bounce" are properly attributed. Nearly 1,000 lives have been sacrificed to satisfy the blood appetite of the dog according to the belief of the authorities. The lives were those of chickens from nearly a hundred coops in the south end of the city.

The dog displayed unusual cunning in his depredations many times getting himself out of a pinch that would tax a human intellect. He was captured after a search of three months only when he climbed over the roof of the Kienahs greenhouses and could not get back. At that he was close to freedom when found, having nearly burrowed his way from the coop.

Bounce belonged to Peter Moran, 1305 Johnson street, and was not suspected by his owner. His owner had such faith in him that he used him to guard his own chicken yard against the unknown marauder.

CHICAGO'S LONELY CLUB HATCHES GREAT SCHEME; NOW IT ISN'T LONELY ANY MORE

Some members of the Lonely Club and a willing victim.

Here's a little group of Chicago's Lonely club. Its members were very, very lonely until a few nights ago. Their dances were not attended by the men. Finally, last week it occurred to Mrs. Ida Peifer, who is in charge of the club, to invite a lot of young men from the Chicago law school to a dance. She did so, and 200 law students came in a body, bringing joy to the members of the club. The most of the young men agreed to come again.

TWO KILLED WHEN BIG GUN EXPLODES

Breech Block of 3-Inch Piece Blows Off During Night Practice at Fort Moultrie

WASHINGTON, May 23.—In the absence of any explanation of the explosion at Fort Moultrie, S. C., in which two enlisted men were killed and Capt. Guy B. M. Hanna was seriously injured, Secretary of War Garrison today wired to the commanding officer of the fort for a detailed report.

According to unofficial advices received at the war department, the disaster came as the result of the blowing off of the breech block on one of the three-inch guns which were being used in night firing practice. An investigation of the gun and a report from the officer whose duty it is to examine it before firing it is expected in a few days. Until then, however, the department will not attempt to fix responsibility.

A brief dispatch giving the names of the officer and men killed and injured by the explosion of the gun was received today in the war department from Colonel Strong, commander of the fort.

The killed were: Private Alton McD. Baxter, Cosby, Tenn.; Private Arthur Christian, Longstreet, Ohio.

The Gannon plumbing commission bill and the Goff slaughter house inspection bills also passed.

In the evening the Peavey bill for optional county comission form of government was killed 51 to 37. The senate bill merging the office of fire marshal with the insurance department met death, 64 to 22. The assembly reconsidered the vote killing the Vint resolution removing the state debt limit and a substitute was offered by Mr. Vint. The bill goes over under the rules. The Bichler bill for the appointment of town highway commissioners was killed as was the Miller bill giving the county board power to appoint a county superintendent.

TWO MAY BE DEAD IN FIRE IN MINE

MARION, Ill., May 23.—Fire that is sweeping the underground works of the Carterville District mine three miles north of here, at noon today was unchecked. The fate of two supplymen, John and Ed Duncan, who were trapped in the mine when the fire broke out late yesterday is unknown. Failure to find them in one of the ruined sections of the mine today leads to the belief that they are yet alive, trapped behind barriers they might have constructed. The fan house was destroyed during the night, cutting off the fire from those sections not yet destroyed. Rescuers are still at work with two large streams of water.

POLICE CAR MAY JOIN JOY RIDERS

A large poster announcing in crimson ink a "JOY RIDE BALL" to be given in Barre Mills Saturday evening by a local taxicab company which has appeared in some windows, today caused the usually placid brow of District Attorney D. S. Law to wrinkle into a skeptical frown. The frown in no wise decreased when Chief of Police John Webber approached with one of the gaudy posters in his hand and expressed his suspicion of the affair.

"Smells strongly of road houses to me," said the chief. "I think it will bear watching. Probably be a good scheme to have the department car entered in the 'excursion.'"

"If it is anything like what you suspect," said Attorney Law, "the advertisement is right. 'There will be something doing.'"

LA FOLLETTE HITS TARIFF METHODS

Says Democrats Are Going About Schedule-making in Republican Fashion

"TARIFF MAKING IN THE DARK"

Treat Subject as Stake in Partisan Game and Not Economic Problem

MADISON, Wis., May 23.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, commenting on the defeat of his amendment to instruct the senate finance committee to hold hearings and put specific questions to manufacturers appearing to protest against the Wilson-Underwood tarif bill, contributes an article to his magazine of this week under the caption, "Tariff Making in the Dark."

Senator La Follette cites the question he would have put to each of the manufacturers under oath before the commission, and adds:

Usual Hearings Useless

"To require the senate committee to conduct hearings of the usual character upon the pending bill would serve no useful purpose. On the other hand it is a serious mistake to assume that tariff rates can be determined by any committee of congress in the absence of specific data.

"It matters not whether a tariff bill is being framed with a view to fixing the duties at a rate which shall measure the difference in the cost of production between this and competing countries, which is mainly, if not wholly, the difference in labor cost; or whether the tariff bill is being framed with a view of eliminating all protective duties and fixing the tariff with the sole object of producing revenue. It is in either case vital that the committee shall know the average cost of producing the article in this country and the average cost of producing the article in competing foreign countries."

Stake in Party Game

After calling the roll of senators who voted for and against his amendment, Senator La Follette concludes:

"So tariff legislation under democratic control is to proceed exactly as under republican control. The subject is not to be treated as an economic problem. It is to be the stake in a partisan game, and the American people are to suffer the consequences.

"The Payne-Aldrich bill raised the rates regardless of the burdens imposed upon consumers. And the course of the democratic senators indicates that the Underwood-Simmons bill will fix the rates, regardless of production cost, and the wrongs it wil inflict upon wage earners and upon legitimate industry."

About the Same Thing.

He—Great news, dearest. P. Q. and R. stock has gone away up, so now we can get married. She—Why, Fred, I didn't know you owned any of it! He—I don't, but your father does.—Boston Transcript.

Autos for Veterans

There will be automobles at the court house at 9 a. m. to take all veterans to the dedication ceremonies. Autos will also be furnished those who decorate on the north side.

At 2 p. m. the W. R. C. will meet at the court house and march to the wagon bridge and strew flowers on the waters in memory of union sailors. The members of the G. A. R. are expected and requested to join in this ceremony.

History of Post

Wilson Colwell post, G. A. R., the first G. A. R. post established in La Crosse, was organized August 17, 1882. Of the original charter members still belonging and living in the city are Gilbert W. Woodward, Edward Cronon and H. K. Vincent.

The charter members were G. M. Woodward, Edward Cronon, B. F. Bryant, Charles Ottilie, T. J. Widvey, M. J. Pitkin, Charles A. Chatfield, Henry K. Vincent, Patrick O'Halloran, Bernard Dunn, Edward M. C. Koops, Charles L. Hildreth, Wm. Miller, Frank H. Schmaltz, Edwin Howard, Ezra L. Mower.

Some of the above are dead, others have left the city. Comrade B. F. Bryant has left the city but still retains membership in the post.

The post was named for Captain Wilson Colwell, who commanded company B, Second Wisconsin infantry. This was the first company to go to war from La Crosse. Captain Colwell was killed September 14, 1862, at South Mountain, Md. The post has done much to assist needy comrades and their families, when assistance was necessary to keep the wolf from the door. And now, when it is about to turn its activities over to younger hands, their final work will be done at the dedication of the soldiers' monument on the soldiers' lot in Oak Grove cemetery on Memorial day, May 30. This monument will be a lasting memorial to their deceased comrades and a tribute to their memory.

It will also be an inspiration for all time to come, when the Grand Army will only be a memory.

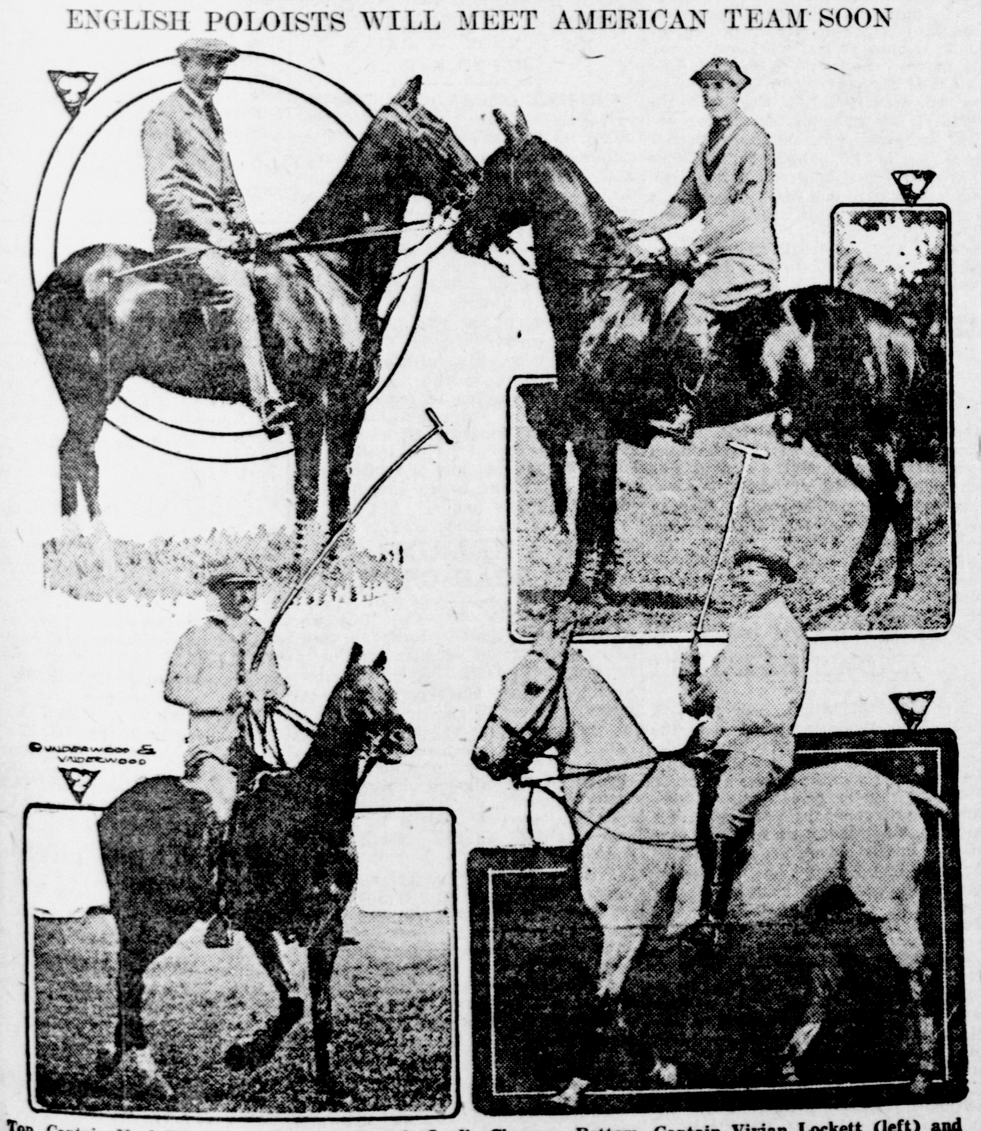

Lesson to the Young

It will teach a lesson to the young to be ever mindful of the welfare of the country and its institutions. It will teach them patriotism, as the G. A. R. has been doing since the organization of the order.

This in itself is a sacred mission and is the foundation on which the G. A. R. stands. The G. A. R. is not dead by any means, although its activities will be less in the future than in the past. Younger hands and patriotic hearts of the S. W. V. and S. of V. will take up the flag which we place in their hands and carry on the work which we bequeath to them. The work will go on.

The W. R. C. No. 2, which was organized in 1883, has been of great assistance to the post. In various ways it has helped us, has donated to the post money which has helped materially in the erection of the monument. As the post is about to step down, but not out, we feel that something of this nature should be written, not in self praise, but in a spirit of justice, to those who have been active in the work which has been done.

ENGLISH POLOISTS WILL MEET AMERICAN TEAM SOON

Here are the English poloists who will meet the American team in the international polo meet at Meadow Brook, Long Island, June 10-14. They began active practice at the Piping Rock clubhouse grounds, On Long Island, on Tuesday. The line-up of the English poloists in the contests with the Americans will be as follows: Capt. Leslie Cheape, No. 1; Capt. Noel Edwards, No. 2; Capt. R. G. Ritson, No. 3, and Capt. Vivian Lockett, back.

Careful Boy.

Two American tourists on their way to Abbotsford were in doubt about the road to take and the time it would occupy to get there. Hailing a passing lad, they put the necessary questions. The native replied by showing the route, but did not know how long it would take to get there. The tourists resumed their journey, but had scarcely gone a hundred yards when they heard a yell.

"It will take you an hour," called the boy at the pitch of his voice.

"Why didn't you tell us that before?" returned one of the Americans.

"I couldna tell ye afore I knew hoo fast ye could walk."—Dundee Advertiser.

Necks and Legs.

Naturalists assure us that, with a few exceptions, there is a marked equality between the lengths of the necks and of the legs of both birds and quadrupeds. Whether they be long or whether they be short is determined, it seems, chiefly by the manner in which the animal feeds.

Crocodiles, lizards and fish have practically no necks. Fowls that feed in the water also offer an example of this correspondence between the members, with the exception of swans and geese and some Indian birds, which gather their food from the bottom of pools and must for that purpose have long necks, while the short legs make it easier for them to swim.—Harper's.

Before burning your bridges behind you it might be well to see that they are fully insured.

Mighty few of us are what we think other people ought to think we are.

VAN HISE EXPLAINS UNIVERSITY'S WORK

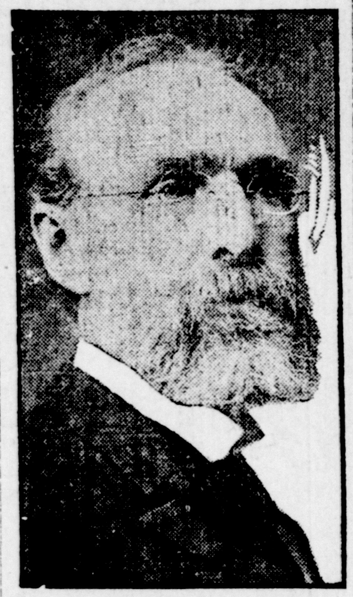

Not in Politics in the Factional Sense President Tells 120 Easterners

HEADS GOVERNMENTAL PROGRESS

Says School Must Be Active in Assisting Commonwealth to Justify Existence

MADISON, Wis., May 23. — "The state university is not in politics in the sense that it has ever been organized in the support of any individual faction or party. It is in politics in so far as it takes a position of leadership in advancing government along economic and social betterment of the people."

In these words President Charles R. Van Hise explained the relations of the University of Wisconsin to the political life of the commonwealth in addressing the 120 Easterners who are studying methods at that institution. This address was given at the Golf club at the conclusion of a cruise on Lake Mendota.

Activity Inevitable

"This activity of the university in upbuilding the commonwealth in all lines is inevitable if the university is to justify its support by the people of the state," continued President Van Hise.

"Wisconsin is sometimes spoken of as a radical state. It is on the contrary conservative. While it gives the people the right to decide by vote what shall be done, it calls in the expert to do the things that command expert knowledge.

"The university should reflect the spirit of the times without yielding to it. It must advance knowledge as well as impart it. Our ideas must be readjusted in each generation in the light of our new knowledge. The freedom of thought, untrammeled inquiry after truth for its own sake, a constant readjusting of knowledge of the past in the light of the newest facts, is absolutely essential in any university, and is a condition of its existence which it must not yield under any circumstances.

Center of Conflict

"It is this spirit which forever makes the university a center of conflict. Peace and progress are antipodal. Within our own nation a great struggle is now going on between different ideas and ideals. Progress is possible only through struggle and strife.

"As of old, so today, the spirit of the university is irreconciliable conflict with those who hold that the present state of affairs is the best possible. Political and religious faiths, conventions, and morals are all constantly changing. Since the university's chief function is to inspire, adjust, improve and advance knowledge, the change must be greatest in it, the progress most rapid. Therefore the university is the very center of disturbance. The conflict between the university and the reactionary forces is irrepressible. There is no way to escape this situation but to destroy the university. As the spirit of despotism represses universities, so the spirit of freedom tends to inspire them.

"While the university must not yield to the spirit of the times, it must reflect this spirit. Not only must the modern university men retain their own ideals, but they must take part in giving the university a wider scope.

"The modern university must not only prepare students for the old professions of law, medicine and theology, but it must make all of the higher phases of all professions learned professions, including agriculture, engineering, journalism and commerce."

Watch Farm Courses

The Pennsylvanians spent the morning in viewing exhibits and demonstrations at Agricultural hall and learning how agricultural knowledge is diffused throughout the state. At the conclusion of the lake excursion this afternoon they were scheduled to inspect the university grounds, and tonight will attend the annual May fete on the upper campus, to be followed by a reception by the faculty of the extension department at the university club.

New Freshmen Late

"String ou-u-u-t"—the recognized call of the tardy attendant at chapel—boomed across the university campus today when one hundred well groomed, sartorially correct freshmen were late to their first class, that in advanced civics. The old timers obligingly "strung out" and each verdant student succeeded in getting into the lecture room before the tardy bell and the instruction of the visiting easterners in the art of self government began.

Bristling with pencils and notebooks, their hats turned up in front and down behind—a fashion set by Mayor Blankenburg of Philadelphia—the visiting Pennsylvanian romped gaily to a lecture on advanced civil government. The class extended far beyond the usual period and the luncheon hour was far spent when the dismissal signal was given. Outside the new freshmen were vociferously greeted by several hundred of the student body, and after he had delivered an address from the steps, Mayor Blankenburg discarded his conventional headgear, appropriated a freshman's green cap and wore it with much eclat to the hotel where it was discarded "because its color didn't match his whiskers."

TO PUT PULMOTOR AT CITY DISPOSAL

Gas and Electric Company to Give La Crosse New Machine for Saving Life

INDUCES ARTIFICIAL BREATHING

Apparatus of Great Use in Cases of Drowning or Asphyxiation

A machine which may be the means of saving many lives in La Crosse, where drownings especially are not uncommon, will be placed at the disposal of the city for use in all emergencies by the La Crosse Gas and Electric company, according to an announcement by General Manager Thurston Owens today.

Pulmotor Portable

The machine, which is packed in a portable box and easily taken to the scene of accident, is a pulmotor, a recent invention of scientists, intended to restore respiration which has been suspended by an agency such as drowning or suffocation by gas or smoke. The pulmotor has been in use for two or three years in the federal mine rescue work and has proved an extraordinary success in saving life. By means of a rubber hood which is fastened over the face of the person who has been overcome by gas, smoke or water, artificial breathing is created. The lungs are compelled to work as in life and by this means life is often restored to the victim where other means fail. Oxygen is administered the victim by means of a powerful pump, which pumps the restorative directly into the lungs.

The new pulmotor will be seen in action at a meeting of the employes of the gas and electric company Tuesday evening. Dr. G. J. Egan will demonstrate the usage of the machine. Mayor Ori Sorensen has been invited to attend the demonstration. Later another demonstration will be given for the benefit of the physicians and dentists of the city. The machine will be then turned over to the city and may be taken to any of the hospitals or scene of possible accident on instant notice.

Council to Accept

It is probable that the Gas and Electric company's offer will be accepted at the next meeting of the common council and the disposition of the machine determined.

Owing to the unseasonable weather the Gas and Electric company has been supplying its patrons with heat for nearly two weeks after the contract time has expired. According to the contract the company supplies heat between September 15 and May 15, but the continued cold weather caused Manager Owens to continue the service until the weather becomes warmer.

The company has about 260 patrons who buy heat. This is the first time the company has ever extended its services beyond the contract time.

SOLON IS CALLED LIAR ON FLOOR

MADISON, Wis., May 23.—Special.)—Shaking his first in the face of Assemblyman John Paulu of Milwaukee, his voice quivering with anger, Assemblyman James Vint, a Milwaukee social democratic member, used the "short and ugly" with all the force his resonant young voice could put into it.

Paulu was speaking on the Minkley bill permitting cities to vote on the free textbook question.

"This bill comes from sources that are against any and all churches," said Paulu.

Vint, floor leader of the social democrats, was on his feet in an instant.

"When you make that and other statements that you have given out tonight, you are saying things that you cannot prove and you know it," shouted Vint. "When you say a thing like that you are nothing more than a deliberate and unqualified liar."

Paulu replied he didn't need to prove it.

Speaker Hull reproved both men for indulging in personalities, which were forbidden. The assembly killed the bill by a vote of 53 to 32.

TWO MILLIONS IN WEDDING PRESENTS

Gifts to Princess Who Will Wed Tomorrow Consist Mainly of Jewels

BERLIN, May 23.—More than $2,000,000 is the estimated aggregate value of the wedding gifts opened and inspected today in the palace by Princess Victoria Luise and Prince Ernst of Cumberland, who will be married tomorrow.

The presents, which came from every royal family of Europe and more than half of the aristocracy of the continent, consisted mainly of jewels, furniture, picture and rugs.

While King George of England was receiving British subjects, and before the British and Russian embassy luncheons for the king and czar respectively, the kaiser and the czar automobiled out to Grunewaid forest and walked in the woods, conversing earnestly.

Every hotel in the city is jammed to its capacity, for besides the royalties and semi-royalties from all over Europe, thousands of Germans from all parts of the empire have come to Berlin to see as much of the gayety as they can from the streets.

SEEK STILES FAMILY FORMER RESIDENTS

A search for Roy, Margaret and Agnes Stiles, the son and daughters of George Stiles, who is said to have died here eight years ago, was begun by the La Crosse police department following the receipt of a letter from George W. Stiles of Duluth, who says he is a nephew of the man who died here.

The name of Roy Stiles, teamster, was found in the city directory of 1907; Agnes Stiles, worker in the La Crosse Laundry, was found in the 1906 directory, and G. H. Stiles, retired, was found in the 1904 directory, but none of the names appear in directories of more recent date. It is the belief of the police that they may have moved from the city. They will continue the search however, until it is learned where they went.

The Duluth man did not state his reason for desiring to find his cousins.

HE STARVES IN PRISON

SOLON ARRESTED FOR MURDER THOUGHT TO BE ATTEMPTING SUICIDE BY REFUSING TO EAT

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., May 23. —Is James Bacon, former representative in the legislature from Teller county, who is in jail here on charge of murdering his wife and stepdaughter, attempting to commit suicide by starving himself to death?

Gaunt and drawn, he has eaten or drunk nothing since last Monday, when he was arrested but he declares it is because he has no appetite. "I am not on a hunger strike," he said today. "I will eat and drink when I feel the need."

Nevertheless his failure to eat has alarmed the authorities and today they attempted to force him to drink. Bacon clenched his teeth, however, and resisted all efforts to force water between his teeth. He seems despondent and sits in his cell all day, speaking to no one, holding his head in his hands.

HOLD A HEARING ON RAILROAD CROSSING

The employes of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad company were called as witnesses in a hearing before Mr. David Harlow, member of the state railroad commission, today in the mayor's office in the city hall. The hearing was called on the petition of William Wolfe, of the town of Campbell, in regard to the alleged danger and inconvenience of the Burlington crossing between North La Crosse and Onalaska on the "North Salem road."

Head Engineer Jeffreys, Yardmaster Harrington and Track Foreman Frank Bull all testified that the crossing was in good condition and well protected against accident. They appeared to be of the opinion that the Green Bay crossing, parallel to the Burlington crossing, is approached by such a grade as to cause considerable trouble to teamsters, but that the infrequency of trains on the Green Bay reduced the danger of accidents to a minimum.

Andrew Lees acted as attorney for the Burlington. The petitioners were not represented or present at the hearing.

An old horse occasionally feels coltish, but its actions are a poor imitation.

ALLEGE WOOD PAID EXPENSE OF PLANT

State Presents Checks Given to Atteaux as Evidence in Dynamite Plot Trial

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN
(Staff correspondent of the United Press.)

BOSTON, Mass., May 23. — The state brought out its most material proof today in the trial of William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen company; Frederick E. Atteaux, and Dennis Collins, charged with conspiracy to plant dynamite during the Lawrence strike, when it presented checks and vouchers showing that Wood authorized the company to pay Atteaux $2,065 for "services during the strike."

Two checks, one for $505 and the other for $2,100, drawn on the American Woolen company's account to Atteaux's order and two vouchers personally signed by Wood as president and authorizing the payments were introduced as evidence.

The counsel for Wood fought to the last ditch against allowing the entry of the checks and receipts but the court ruled that they were to be accepted, subject to the district attorney's promise to connect this payment with the general conspiracy to plant dynamite alleged in the indictment.

PEDS HAVE TO PLAY PLATTEVILLE

Watching The Scoreboard

The winning teams in the American league scored 21 runs against one for the losers. There were three shutouts, Boston scoring the lone tally against the White Sox.

It had to come some time, and the Naps handed it to Walter Johnson. Thirteen hits were good for five runs, and for the first time this season Griffith had pitchers warming up while Johnson was in the box.

Plank pitched a three hit game against Detroit. He struck out four men, but mixed in five bases on balls.

Eight hits netted the White Sox two runs, but out of ten safe swats off Lefty Russell, Boston could not bunch enough to put over more than one.

Stone delivered a shutout for the Browns against the Yankees, evening up the series but only fast fielding pulled him out of several holes.

Umpire Klem kept the Dodgers and Pirates wallowing in the rain, and mud long enough to call it a game. Wagner had to run to the bench and have the mud blasted out of his eyes when Stengel slid into second.

HEAVIES TO BATTLE

NEW YORK, May 23.—Both Jim Flynn and Jim Coffey, the "Dublin Giant," today declared themselves to be the best possible condition for their ten round bout before the Garden Athletic club tonight.

MIDDLES TRAIN HARD

M'CUE BEATS SOKOL

FOND DU LAC, Wis., May 23.—Though fight fans who expected to see Matty McCue of Racine stow away Johnny Sokol of Buffalo, with a knockout were disappointed, it was agreed here today that Racine's "second Terry McGovern" had all the best of the ten round bout last night. Sokol, however, stood up well under punishment and finished well.

RAIN FOR OPENER

CHICAGO, May 23.—Clammy weather today made it possible that the opening of the Federal league season in Chicago would be postponed. Heavy clouds threatened to spill down at any moment upon the flock of automobiles gathering for the parade.

ALDERMANIC COMMITTEE HEARS CITIZENS COMPLAIN OF RAH-RAH BOYS AND LUSTY ROOSTERS

CHICAGO, May 23.—A drastic ordinance designed to suppress "unnecessary noises" will be drafted by the aldermanic committee appointed to consider the noise nuisance, it was announced today.

The committee at its first session, heard protests of more than 100 citizens. The "rah-rahs" of college students, the crowing of roosters, the beating of carpets and tolling of the church bells were some of the noises the more peeved citizens wanted suppressed. Others mentioned the muffler cut out of motor cars, the yelling of peddlers, and the whistling of locomotives, and river boats.

CO-EDS FEED SOLONS

MADISON, Wis., May 23.—About one hundred members of the legislature attended a pancake supper last evening given by Assemblyman C. D. Hawn of Pierce county and the students of the home economics department of the university. Governor McGovern was present at the banquet and when called upon for a few remarks by Dean H. L. Russell, spoke in a reminiscent way of the time when he gathered sap from the maple trees for the making of syrup.

HALT MEXICAN LOAN

MEXICO CITY, May 23.—Charging that the best proposition for a loan had not been accepted the chamber of deputies failed to take final action on the bill authorizing the issue to the government by French bankers of the $100,000,000 loan at six per cent. Whether the chamber will hold up definitely the completion of the transaction or yield to the wishes of President Huerta and the cabinet and approve it, could not be learned.

ATTACKS FOREMAN

MILWAUKEE, May 23.—William Ruby, foreman of the Vogel farm near here, is in the hospital and believed to be dying and Harry C. Millard, assistant foreman, is held by the police as the result of a fight between the men this morning. During a dispute over a trifling matter, Millard seized a heavy crowbar and struck Ruby a glancing blow on the head. While the foreman lay unconscious Millard struck again, crushing Ruby's hand so badly that amputation was necessary. The assistant is believed to be insane.

Nothing makes the rest of us so tired as the fellow who puts up a bluff at hustling.

MAY PROTEST PAGE

A. F. OF L. EXECUTIVE COUNCIL MAY COMPLAIN OF NEW AMBASSADOR TO COURT OF ST. JAMES

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Until the executive council of the American Federation of Labor convenes next month, no acknowledgement of union labor's protests against appointment of Walter H. Page, as ambassador to Great Britain can be made by the federation. Secretary Morrison said today that as yet no complaint had been received and that it was not the policy of the federation to mix in international appointments until the executive council had so ordered.

Protests against Page's appointment are expected by the A. F. of L. from several of its affiliated organizations. Already the New York Central Federated union, and the Typographical Union of London, England, are reported to have requested the withdrawal of Page's appointment.

Page is listed as a non-union man at the federation's headquarters here and is considered as one of the most formidable opponents of union labor in the country. As editor of a magazine printed by non-union labor, Mr. Page has frequently attacked the principles of unionism.

MANIAC KILLS ASYLUM MATE

BLACK FOOT, Idaho, May 23.—Peter Bradovitch, an insane Austrian, confined in the Southern Idaho asylum for the insane here, killed his five roommates by beating them on the head with a table as they lay asleep yesterday morning.

There was no evidence of a struggle between the maniac and his victims, except on the body of Peterson. Two bruises on his arm showed that he had tried to ward off the blows which Bradovitch rained on his head.

So quietly did Bradovitch accomplish the killing that guards sleeping across the hall were not awakened. The heads of all five men were completely crushed.

Bradovitch was committed to the asylum two years ago from the state penitentiary, where he was serving a life sentence for murder.

FESTIVAL AT MADISON

ANNUAL SPRING EVENT AT THE UNIVERSITY BEGINS TODAY; VENETIAN FETE TO NIGHT

MADISON, Wis., May 23.—(Special.)—Hundreds of alumni, and the families and friends of many university students arrived in Madison today for the annual spring festival at the University of Wisconsin.

Scheduled for this afternoon was an intercollegiate track meet, and the annual spring masque, conducted on the campus by the young women of the university. The feature of the day's program was the Venetian night festival, on Lake Mendota. Hundreds of water craft were to take part in the pageant. Many boat owners have been working for weeks on their crafts' decorations and tonight's parade was expected to surpass all previous efforts. Many of the craft were to be electric lighted and Japanese lanterns were selling at a premium today, the "open market" supply having been practically exhausted by enthusiastic boat owners.

A Welcome Delusion.

FRICK TO PREACH IN TRINITY PULPIT

Is Known Throughout the Country by Lutherans as "Bishop of Wisconsin"

HAS ADOPTED ENGLISH LAGUAGE

Is a Man of Commanding Personality in Pulpit; Will Confirm Class of Eighteen

It has been learned that a man of national prominence in the Lutheran church will be in La Crosse on next Sunday, and will preach in Holy Trinity English Evangelical Lutheran church both morning and evening. The man is Dr. Wm. K. Frick of Milwaukee.

The name of Dr. Frick is a household word in every English speaking Lutheran home in America. Known as "the bishop of Wisconsin," which title is purely honorary, for there are no Lutheran bishops in America, Dr. Frick enjoys a position of national importance. He is secretary of the general council, of which the English Synod of the northwest is a part. He holds several other offices of importance in the Lutheran church.

Some years ago the idea of an English Lutheran church was almost unheard of in this section of the country. Among German and Scandinavian Lutherans there was a vague idea, gleaned from church papers and elsewhere, that in such states as New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio that there were strong English speaking Lutheran congregations. However, the idea of starting such a movement in the northwest was unheard of. It remained for a young man named Rev. Frick, to see the great opportunity in the northwest. Everywhere he heard of scattered English speaking Lutherans. Many of these had emigrated from the east, in the great westward hegira of twenty-five or thirty years ago. In many other cases they were English speaking children of German and Scandinavian parents. Brought up in an English speaking land, in American schools, and amid American surroundings, these children soon gave up the language of the fatherland and adopted the language of the land in which they were living.

To any other than men like the Passavants and Dr. Frick, such a fact would not have been of more than passing significance. But with unusual foresight, they saw that the future of Lutheranism in the west depended upon holding the young people. With wonderful courage, this active young Milwaukee pastor set about a work of organization. From one small congregation in Milwaukee the work has grown to large proportions. Dr. Frick has been instrumental, in some manner, whether in considerable degree or otherwise, in the organization of scores of congregations in this part of the country, of which Holy Trinity English Lutheran of this city is one.

Dr. Frick is a man of commanding personality in the pulpit. His fame as a speaker is national, and there will be a treat in store for those who hear him next Sunday. He will confirm a class of about 18 young people in the morning, administer the Lord's supper, baptizing several children, receive into membership with the congregation, and at the evening service he will preach. Those who know him, either personally or by reputation, look forward to a red letter day on Sunday next.

CONFERENCE IN OPEN

PORTLAND, Ore., May 23.—With the blue sky the only canopy, the second World's Christian association conference will be held in Portland June 29 to July 6, in the Natural amphitheater which comprises the field of the Multanomah Amateur Athletic club, according to announcement made today by a local committee in charge of the program. The speakers will deliver their addresses from a stand which has been erected in the middle of the field. The stands about the speaker's platform will accommodate ten thousand persons The natural accoustic properties of the place make it possible for persons in the seats farthest away from the speaker can plainly hear what is said on the central platform in a conversational tone. More than 12,000 delegates and 25,000 visitors of every nationality are expected to attend the conference, according to reports received today from chairmen of delegations from all parts of the world. Among the important subjects which will be discussed will be "The Family; Marriage and Divorce," and topics relating to social purity, intemperance, prison reform, capital and its relation to labor, immigration, emigration, international peace, Christianity and public education.

Unreasonable Man.

Impatiently the man was pacing up and down the room waiting for his wife to complete her toilet. Presently he roared:

"We'll miss Caruso's aria in the second act if you don't hurry a little with your dressing."

To this the lady shrieked back:

"Hurry a little? Why, Henry Harrison, aren't you ashamed? Here I've been hurrying as fast as ever I can for the last three hours and a half!"—Washington Star.

It isn't until they fall of that some people know which side of the fence they are on.

Honduras.

Honduras, with vast deposits of minerals of all kinds, with untold thousands of acres of the richest tropical fruit and vegetable lands in the world and untold possibilities as a coffee producer, has a smaller population than it had fifty years ago. While other countries less favorably situated have forged ahead, Honduras has slowly but steadily drifted backward.

DECISION TO END THE EKERN CASE

Believed Both Parties Will Accept Word of the Supreme Court in Its Decision

MADISON, Wis., May 23.—(Special.)—The impression prevails among lawyers that when the supreme court passes upon the McGovern-Ekern controversy, which it is expected to do on May 31, it will pronounce upon the title to the office and that its decision will be accepted by the parties to the issue and thus put an end to the long drawn out controversy. In the re-arguments for which the court called, last week, the attorneys went deeply into this phase of the question. It seemed to be the feeling of the court that if it did not pass upon the title to the office it would simply result in more litigation before the court and a further rehearsal of much of the ground over which it had gone.

The original appeal was on the decision of Circuit Judge E. Ray Stevens that he could not permanently enjoin Governor McGovern from forcibly ejecting Ekern from the office of commissioner of insurance.

In the arguments by Ekern's attorney last week, it was sought to be shown that in thirty-five states the law provides that in cases of appointments for definite periods the governor has not the power of removal without good cause and adequate notice and hearing for the person sought to be removed. Only two states—Illinois and New Mexico—permit arbitrary removals. They took the position that the intent of the Wisconsin law was in line with that of the majority of states. H. L. Butler, attorney for the governor, however, went into the journals and committee reports of the legislature of 1911 and sought to show that while the bill originally provided for notices, hearings, etc., these were gradually eliminated and a short statute provided which apparently gives the governor large and arbitrary powers.

Mr. Ekern's attorneys, it is said, base their hope of ultimate victory on the court's taking the position of the majority of states, while Mr. Anderson and his counsel find comfort in the hope that the court will construe the legislative intent according to the views of Mr. Butler.

AFTER COFFEE TRUST

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Unless the department of justice reopens the prosecution of the coffee valorization "trust," which doubled the price of coffee and escaped trial, Senator Morris of Nebraska will introduce in congress a resolution demanding action by the latter body.

Lungs Affected By Rheumatism

Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Asthma and Anemia Often Directly the Results of Rheumatic Blood.

Avoid Grippe, Sore Throat and Similar Troubles by Using S. S. S.

If you have a persistent, nagging bronchial cough beware of cough remedies. They are merely local in action, and if they do relieve it is the narcotics that do it. What you require is a blood purifier, a searching antidote that removes from the circulation the acid poisons that by their reflexes attack all weakened, susceptible spots and thus create local symptoms. The very best remedy known is Swift's Sure Specific. You will find it on sale in any drug store at $1.00 per bottle. It goes straight into the blood, becomes an internal blood bath, wonderfully stimulates the increase of red corpuscles, cures all the local fever spots and irritations, increases appetite, you take on flesh and feel a wonderful sense of renewed strength. Hundreds of people worried beyond control at cough, pains in the chest, sore throat and constant expectoration of thick mucus have experienced the most wonderful change after using S. S. S. All doubt and apprehension is gone, those peculiar pains and aches vanish, there follows a period of most intense rejoicing to find that worst fears were based entirely upon a mistaken notion that cough and chest pains come from the lungs. These are rheumatic conditions, and you will quickly realize it after using S. S. S. for a few days. Get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day at the drug store and then say good-bye to all those pains that have worried you.

Write to Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for medical advice and wonderful facts concerning the greatest blood remedy ever known.

WISCONSIN LEADS GUERNSEY STATES

Not Only Breeds More but Also Buys More of Breed Than Any State in the Union

Not only do Wisconsin dairymen breed more Guernsey cattle than do the farmers of any other state in the union but they also buy more breeding animals of this noted Channel Island breed. Of the 379 Guernsey sires recently sold in a single month, 126 or practically one-third, according to the Wisconsin Farmer, were purchased by Badger state Guernsey men and of the 360 cows and heifers which exchanged ownership during the same period of time, 123 or more than one-third were added to Wisconsin herds.

If the breed continues in the future as it has in the past, to gain in favor with Wisconsin dairymen, it will not be long before profitable herds of these great milk and butterfat producers are maintained in every agricultural county in the state. During the month ending May 10, 128 breeders living in 43 different counties of the state purchased 143 head of pure bred and registered Guernseys which number quite exceeded that of any other state. The counties which in this period lead in the purchase of Guernsey breeding animals were Barron, Door, Fond du Lac, Jefferson, La Crosse, Marathon, Milwaukee, Manitowoc, Outagamie Walworth Waupaca and Waukesha.

Some of the most noted animals of the breed have been bred or owned by Wisconsin breeders. The first cow to produce 1000 pounds of butter in a year was a Wisconsin Guernsey, owned by the late Frederick Rietbrock, operated in Marathon and Milwaukee counties. Charles L. Hill, a prominent Wisconsin breeder, is the president of the American Guernsey Cattle club.

BRIDE NEARLY STARVES

MILWAUKEE, May 23. — Mrs. Edith Preston, 18, a bride of eight weeks, whose husband, Alec Preston, is held on a forgery charge, fainted from hunger when she came to the county jail to visit her husband. For a few days she had eaten nothing and had walked the streets practically all the time in an effort to get bail for Preston.

"I love him because he stole me," she sobbed to the jail officials. "He was a cowboy on my foster-father's ranch in Canada and when father made me curry the horses he sympathized with me. After a while we eloped." It was believed Preston would be released following the receipt of word from wealthy relatives in Colorado.

BRYAN IS SILENT

WASHINGTON, May 23.—"There will be nothing said until there is something to say," was Secretary of State Bryan's smiling comment today when asked for his views as to the reported reception by Japan of the American note in reply to the Japanese protest of the California anti-alien land law.

The secretary has received no word from Ambassador Chinda as yet and the Japanese representative has not made any engagement to see him. It was expected, however, that informal conferences between the two officials might precede Japan's official and formal rejoinder to the American reply note.

URGES STATE HOME

MADISON, Wis., May 23.—(Special.)—Wisconsin may establish a home for the care of crippled and defective children, who are indigent. Senator Cunningham of Rock county is the author of a bill to accomplish this, which has just been given a hearing before the finance committee. The state board of control is asking for an appropriation of $20,000 to carry on the work of caring for these dependents.

TO EXAMINE THE MINNESOTA FAIR

Site Committee Will Go to St. Paul Next Week to Look Over the Grounds

MADISON, Wis., May 23.—(Special.)—Next week the committee investigating the state fair sites will go to St. Paul to look over the Minnesota fair grounds. Senator M. F. White, chairman of the committee, announced today that the members of the committee would meet in St. Paul next Monday. Assemblyman Carpenter was attempting today to have the committee arrange to visit the fair grounds of Des Moines, Ia., and at Springfield, Ill.

"I desire to have the members of the committee see how the people of Springfield and Des Moines, not large cities, take care of a state fair crowd" said Assemblyman Carpenter. "I am sure that if the commitee will visit these other cities they will be satisfield that the fair can be well handled outside of Milwaukee."

Before the fair committee concludes its hearings it intends to hear arguments in favor of a state exposition to be held during the fall in connection with the agricultural college of the university. This exposition would take the place of the state fair and special stress would be laid on agricultural features.

STATE CROP REPORT SHOWS AN ADVANCE

Conditions This Year Are Better Than in the Month of May in 1912

MADISON, Wis., May 23. — The state board of agriculture's crop report for May, the first issued this year, indicates that conditions in Wisconsin are much more favorable than for the same month in 1912. Reports came from all but five counties.

"The general average condition of winter wheat is 90 per cent as against 86 per cent in 1912," says the report, prepared by Secretary James C. MacKenzie. "Winter rye is 93 per cent against 91 per cent; alfalfa 87 per cent against 82 per cent; clover meadows 88 per cent against 84 per cent; timothy meadows 91 per cent against 88 per cent; pastures 88 per cent against 86 per cent.

"The acreage comparison is equally encouraging with the exception of winter rye and barley. The increase is as follows: Winter wheat 93 per cent as compared with 91 per cent in 1912; spring wheat 91 per cent against 90 per cent; spring rye 89 per cent against 82 per cent; oats 101 per cent, the same as last year; clover meadows 101 per cent against 94; timothy meadows 98 against 96. The percentage of acreage of winter rye in 1913 is 95 per cent as compared with 97 per cent in 1912, and the acreage of barley in 1913 is 95 per cent as against 102 per cent in 1912. The acreage of alfalfa for the year 1913 is reported at 107 per cent, showing a substantial increase. The percentage of abandoned winter wheat acreage for the entire state is 14 per cent, and that of abandoned winter rye acreage is 6 per cent.

"Fourteen per cent of the 1912 hay crop was still in the hands of the farmers on May 1, and the report shows that 85 per cent of the entire hay crop of the state will be consumed on the farms producing it. Sixteen per cent of the 1912 corn crop was still in the hands of the farmers May 1, and 94 per cent of the total crop of corn produced in Wisconsin will be consumed on the farms producing it. The report shows a loss of silage amounting to approximately 5 per cent of the whole. Soil conditions were reported generally favorable, although there was very little rainfall during April. The soil contained sufficient moisture, however, so that the growth of crops was not retarded. Subsequent to the first of May a general rainfall throughout the entire state has improved conditions materially.

"The prospects for a record-breaking fruit crop in Wisconsin were never better than at the present time.

"The wages paid for farm labor vary from $25 to $37 a month, the general average throughout the state amounting to $31 per month."

Repertory.

Some say repertoire and frown on those that prefer repertory. Now, "repertery" first meant an index, list, catalogue, or calendar, and the word with this meaning goes back to the middle of the sixteenth century. About fifty years later the word began to be used as meaning a storehouse or magazine in which something may be found. Not till 1845 did the word appear in English literature as meaning "a stock of dramatic or musical pieces which a company or player is accustomed or prepared to perform," and "repertoire," meaning the same thing, appeared at the same time, but was for a long time printed in italics as a foreign word.—Boston Herald.

Its Origin.

The saying, "Excuse haste and bad pen," has been attributed to a pig which ran away from home.

MANY MORE MACHINES

MADISON, Wis., May 23.—Automobile and motorcycle registration in Wisconsin is far in excess of that for 1912. Figures from the secretary of state's office show that the number of vehicles already recorded this year exceeds the number registered on July 1 of last year, and that they are being licensed at the rate of 125 per day.

The revenues thus far this year exceed the total receipts up to June 30, 1912, by $28,132. Figures for 1913 follow:

Automobiles, 26,146 at $5		$130,730
Motorcycles, 4,139 at $2		8,278
Dealers, 1,228 at $5		6,140
		$145,148

The date for the same period last year show the following results: 21,193 automobiles, $105,965; 3,178 motorcycles, $6,356; 959 dealers, $4,795; total receipts, $117116.

COLORED LEAGUE WAS THE FUNNIEST THING IN TEXAS; OUT OF COMMISSION NOW, BUT ITS MEMORY LINGERS

Several seasons ago in Texas a baseball league made up entirely of colored ball players provided quite a bit of entertainment for fans of the Lone Star state. Rumor insists that among the colored pill-tossers were stars that rivaled the best in the major leagues. Fans who had seen them perform declare there were blackface Walter Johnsons who were considerable wizards in the box, and Afro-American Eddie Collinses who covered all sorts of territory around the infield.

RAIL OFFICIALS RUN OWN TRAIN

Inspection Done from Special Built Observation Engine; President at the Throttle

The "President Special" with President of the Burlington Railroad D. Miller, and several other officials on board, passed through the city this morning at 8 o'clock, following the Oriental Limited. The train consisted of an especially built observation engine and four coaches.

Engine No. 360 is the most unique engine that has ever passed through the city. It is of the "mogul" type, built for speed. In front of the boiler is an observation car about twenty feet in length, in which the officials ride. Although there is a special crew, consisting of the fireman, the engineer and brakeman on board, the officials have control of the throttle and the air brake, the engineer not having charge of the train while in motion. In inspecting the tracks over which they pass they can stop the train whenever they wish.

The special tour which the officials are on extends between Savanna, Ill., and the Pacific coast, over the tracks of the Burlington system and the Northern Pacific lines. Their object in making the trip is to inspect the double track work that is going on, and to inspect the new track work. A corps of expert engineers accompany the officials.

As has been their policy in the past the railroad company is endeavoring to make its road the best that is possible. They carry data showing that fewer wrecks from washouts and from bad roadbeds have occurred on their road than any other westen railroad running to the coast.

ADDRESS CLOSES MISSION MEETING

Dr. McGlauflin Speaks to Gathering at Universalist Church; Mrs. Brindley President

Dr. W. H. McGlauflin, general superintendent of the Universalist church, spoke on "The Law and the Gospel of Missionary Endeavor" at the closing meeting of the Missionary Social union at the Universalist church last night.

In developing his theme Dr. McGlauflin said in part: "The law of missionary endeavor is deeply embedded in the heart of nature. It is illustrated in the processes of the fields and the forests. The sensitive plant, by a self regulated spring bow throws its seeds as far as possible. The honeysuckle attaches its pollen to the wings of the bee which thereby becomes a missionary in extending that kind of life. The soft maple grows wings upon its seeds, and the winds bear them afar. The cocoanut trees on our south Atlantic shores grew from the nuts thrown up by the ocean waves. Thus in the economy of nature, the unconscious actions of plant, of insect, of wind and of wave are co-operative in the struggle for enlarging life. They do but verify the statement of Mr. Darwin that all nature is a struggle for life and the fittest survives.

"The practices of mankind amplify and enlarge upon the processes of nature. On the plantation the farmer plows the ground nearby and in fields remote. In the construction of a great railroad gangs of men will be at work hundreds of miles distant from each other. The consciousness that they are working to a common end has a ministry of cheer and helpfulness. That is the reason in part why the Pugent Sound extension of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad over which I have just recently traveled, accomplished the marvelous result of completing the work in three years. The successful trader, promoter and inventor all and always are seeking for new and larger fields.

"The proclamation of the Master, 'Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel' is in strict accord with the fundamentals in nature and in human nature as well as the Kingdom of Heaven. In the realm of things religious the same law holds as in other departments of mind and of matter.

"The Gospel of Missions is now being written. The results have blessed those who have received and those who have given. Mr. Drummond has well pointed out that the stories running through nature is a love story as well as a warfare. While it is a struggle for life, there is another struggle which has as its object the carrying of bounties and blessings to other lives. One form of nature contributes to another. The plant contributes to the animal, and the animal to the plant. The eye cannot say to the hand 'I have no need of you.' Producer and consumer are essential, as spring and autumn must follow each other in rounding out the year. Causes are ever essential to effects and effects are the register of causes. As a result of foreign missions, in part, there is a new China, an enlightened Japan, and educated India, a revolutionized Turkey, and a civilized Africa. These changes are in part the indirect fruitage of the missionary, the institutions of whose country have come to be known through the travel to and fro which his endeavors have stimulated.

"The unification of Christendom itself is coming about through the necessity of co-operation in fields afar. It has been found necessary to emphasize the unities, not the differences in converting the foreigner. And so in America we have church federations as never before and the union of various denominations is coming into view. While the different families of Protestantism may long endure, the guns of sectarian warfare are becoming silent. There is something better to do. Here is an actual occurrence: A Roman Catholic priest, a Presbyterian minister and a Universalist minister, of a Sunday morning, on the way to their respective churches, discovered aneighboring house on fire; immediately they had placed their hymn and prayer books beside the road, stripped off their outer garments, the Universalist was drawing water out of a well, the priest was handing the buckets full up the ladder to the Presbyterian who was on top of the house pouring the water on the flame. They worked in strict accord full of cheer, and effectively in putting out the fire. Then each man went to his pulpit and as the paper reported the event neither one would have cordially welcomed the other into his sanctuary, if at all. But in which direction was the spirit of Christ made manifest, that of inclusion or exclusion?

"We live in a land of wealth. Thus we have a great population that dwells in luxury and leisure. Leisure calls for pleasure, which in turn easily descends to dissipation, and that to degradation. And so the wreckage of life is about us. Wealth, culture, education, opportunity, are not enough. The moral heroism of Christian and missionary endeavor is seen at its best in organizations like yours, which withstanding the temptation on every side, continues the work most vital. First, the Kingdom of God and all other things necessary shall be added."

The address was amply illustrated and held the closest attention for a full hour.

Mrs. John Brindley was elected president of the Missionary Social union, and Mrs. W. H. Saunders secretary-treasurer, at a business meeting which preceded Dr. McGlauflin's address. The business meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. John G. Moore, retiring president, followed a 6:30 tea served in the church parlors by the ladies of the St. Paul's league and the Ladies' circle of the church. Prior to Dr. McGlauflin's talk Miss Florence Herrmann rendered a selection on the violin, and Miss Alma Hosely sang a solo.

MISUNDERSTANDING CAUSE OF WRECK

A misunderstanding in orders by the crew of an extra work train on Tuesday afternoon on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad at Charm, a small town seven miles north of Prairie du Chien, caused Engineer Fred Nicholy, who was at the throttle of the work train, to run into the rear end of freight train No. 8 which was at a standstill, waiting for orders to sidetrack for the work train.

Engine No. 1099 which was pulling the work train was badly damaged although none of the crew of either train were injured, as those on No. 8 were on the ground.

The caboose of No. 8 was set on fire, and was badly burned. Conductor Ellis Humphrey was in charge of the train that was struck.

It Wasn't the Nickel.

"What's the matter, dear?" he asked, putting an arm around her waist.

"When little Gerald and I went downtown today," she sobbed, "the conductor insisted that I must pay full fare for the child."

"Oh, well, don't let that bother you. What's a nickel?"

"It isn't the nickel. It's the idea that the brute of a conductor had the audacity to suppose I could be the mother of a child more than ten years old."—Chicago Record-Herald.

How He Caught Them.

Archbishop Whately had a true sense of grammar, says an old Englishman who remembers him, and delighted to spring catch questions. One was:

"What is the vocative of cat?"

Generally the assured answer was "O cat!"

The archbishop would smile then and say, "No; puss, puss!"

PARTIAL LIVING.

Most of us live in one room, some furnish two or three rooms, but how rare is the man who lives in the whole palace of life! Partial living is the knell of true living. Why should we draw a line across the things which God has made and write "secular" upon one side and "religious" upon the other? God is much more obviously an artist than a moralist. While we push beauty aside he has saturated the universe with it.—Hamilton Wright Mabie.

DENIES SECOND WIFE

GEORGE BOUCHER DENIES THAT HIS BROTHER CHARLES WAS MARRIED MORE THAN ONCE

George Boucher of this city today positively denied knowledge of any second marriage of his brother Charles who is thought to have committed suicide in St. Paul. The denial was in response to a wire from the St. Paul Dispatch. He says Charles was married six years ago in Canada to Annie Thompson, a sister of his own wife, and that they had two children, now being cared for in Galesville, Grace, aged 5, and George, aged 4 years. The widow is in Waterloo, Iowa, employed in a restaurant.

Police here have no further evidence since receiving a letter from Lizzie Coenen, 65 Leech street, St. Paul, asking for detailed information regarding the suicide. This information was furnished and photos were sent to the St. Paul police, but no replies have been received.

S. B. Hilborne, Big Falls, Minn., wrote the police here asking a description of Boucher, and intimating the dead man might be his son-in-law, who had ceased writing to his wife at Big Falls, just about the time of the suicide.

Sob sisters might take a day off to mourn the fact that the cigar sign Indian is passing along with other tribes of that race.

The Society Parvenu.

Lady Dorothy Nevill had strong opinions on the woman question. She deplored the fact that so many women had nothing to do that they fell ready victims to the fad habit. A good many of them seem "completely to dominate their husbands," and she recalled the words of the old shah of Persia who said, "It seems to me that an English or American husband is nothing better than a sort of butler." She was equally severe on the English society parvenus who were ashamed of their fathers and says that on one occasion a host was asked, "Is your father here?" and was not ashamed to reply, "Well, no—hang it all, you know one must draw the line somewhere."

Irascible Carlyle.

A lady who lived near Thomas Carlyle kept Cochin China fowls, and their crowing was such a nuisance that the philosopher sent a complaint to her. The owner was indignant upon hearing the appeal.

"Why," said she, "they crow only four times a day, and how can Mr. Carlyle be seriously annoyed at that?"

Upon hearing of her attitude upon the subject Carlyle replied, "The lady forgets the pain I suffer in waiting for those four [illegible]."

Risky.

"Doctor, my wife says she is getting deaf."

"Tell her it's because she is getting old."

"Do you believe she is deaf enough for that to be safe?"—Houston Post.

MAY BRIDGE THE GULF

POSSIBLE PEACE BETWEEN FACTIONS OF G. O. P. SUGGESTED BY RESULT OF CAUCUS IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A possible bridging of the gulf between progressives and regular republicans was suggested today by a caucus of republicans in the senate when a committee composed of Senators Gallinger of New Hampshire; Townsend of Michigan; Clark of Wyoming; Jones of Washington and Norris of Nebraska was named to arrange with house members for selection of a congressional campaign committee.

A resolution was passed providing that this committee, with one from the house, shall arrange for a joint caucus of republicans in congress to select a campaign committee at an early date.

Three members of the committee chosen today belong to the regular faction of the party and are in harmony with the national committee, whose executive committee will meet here on Saturday. Senator Norris is a progressive and Jones is one of the committee on mediation chosen at the recent Chicago progressive conference.

"I want to congratulate you," said the man with whiskers, "on that music machine you sold me."

"Thanks," answered the music dealer. "It plays remarkably well."

"Why, it plays with human intelligence. Its selections are so appropriate. We had a cyclone out our way, and the first thing I knew your machine was tearing along through the treetops. But it never lost its presence of mind. It started right in playing 'There's Music In the Air.'"—Washington Star.

SOCIETY

MUSICAL COMEDY FOR F. R. A.

Rehearsals are being had by the members of the F. R. A. dramatic club for a new musical comedy to be given in the near future. The scene and plot is laid in a college town where the college students are up to all sorts of pranks and who make "The corner drug store" their loafing place. The proprietor of the store, has repeatedly tried to sell out on account of the business not paying but has failed to do so, until a plot is laid to dispose of the same to a rich Irish uncle from the Klondyke, who has made his money with the shovel and pick. The plan succeeds and the many funny situations involved in the plot, together with the new and catchy musical numbers, makes it a headliner in the way of musical comedies. Five different parodies have been written on popular songs to fit each situation and with a number of solos, for different members of the cast, the production will be interesting and brisk in action. The cast is composed of the college students, a Dutch professor, an Irish comedy lead, an Old maid, an undertaker, a pugilist, a cashier, a "foxy guy," a Jew, besides the straight leads. The musical numbers are all of the variety to make a pleasing impression. The production will be staged the first part of June.

CUPID EDUCATES ESQUIMO

SEATTLE, Wash., May 23.—That little naked fellow who began his troublesome operations way back in the Garden of Eden days, can sure work wonders sometimes. One of his worthiest works had its next-to-last chapter ending today when Paul Patkotak, and 18 year old Esquimax, sailed for Point Barrow, the Arctic extremity of Alaska, to marry Miss Alice Ahlock, a native teacher in the government school there. Three years ago Paul peeked through his body and head encircling fur garments at Alice and asked her to marry him. "Go get an education," answered the haughty Esquimaux enchantress. On the next boat the 15 year old boy left for Seattle. He came here wearing native furs and unable to speak English. In the three years he's been here he learned the language, got a pretty fair start in bookkeeping and picked up enough shorthand to hold him a job most anywhere.

What London Might Have Been.

There was a time when London was actively planning to be a "city beautiful." Plans are still in existence which, had they been adopted, would have resulted in a really magnificent city. Sir Christopher Wren prepared a set immediately after the great fire, though private interests prevented their adoption. It was purposed to build main thoroughfares ninety feet wide, to insulate all the churches in conspicuous positions, form large piazzas and group the halls of all the city companies in a handsome square annexed to Guildhall. Finally a fine quay was to occupy the bank of the river from Blackfriars to the Tower.

If government jobs were as hard to hold as they are to get, taxes might be reduced.

WEST BEATS OFF EAST'S INVASION

CLEVELAND, O., May 23.—The eastern clubs in the American league have completed the first intersectional series of the season and are today on their way back home with less scalps hanging to their belts than they left behind. The western clubs came off the victors, having won thirty games to 28 for the eastern teams.

The White Sox proved to be the strongest foe the invaders encountered. Chicago won eight and lost only five of their games to the teams from the other end of the circuit.

The Naps were close behind Callahan's tribe with nine victories and six defeats. The Browns followed with seven victories and nine defeats while Detroit copped six games and lost eight to the eastern brigade.

WILSON WANTS TO SEE BALL GAME

WASHINGTON, May 23.—President Wilson decided today when he got over to the executive offices and found there was not one engagement planned for him, that he would try to see the Washington Nationals play their first game on the home grounds after the westward jaunt. Mrs. Wilson is giving a garden party late this afternoon and the president figured that he could see the game nearly all the way through before it was necessary for him to hurry back, jump into a silk hat and cutaway and stand in the receiving line.

Hard on the Man.

Shortly after Mr. Dubb returned from his vacation he met a young woman he knew one morning and stopped to have a chat.

"Della has been telling me," said the girl, "that you were up in the mountains with her last month."

"Yes, I was," replied Dubb. "I thought she wrote you about it at the time."

"Why, no," said the young woman amicably. "All she wrote me was that she was having an awfully stupid time."—Lippincott's.

JILTED—HE KILLS GIRL AND HIMSELF

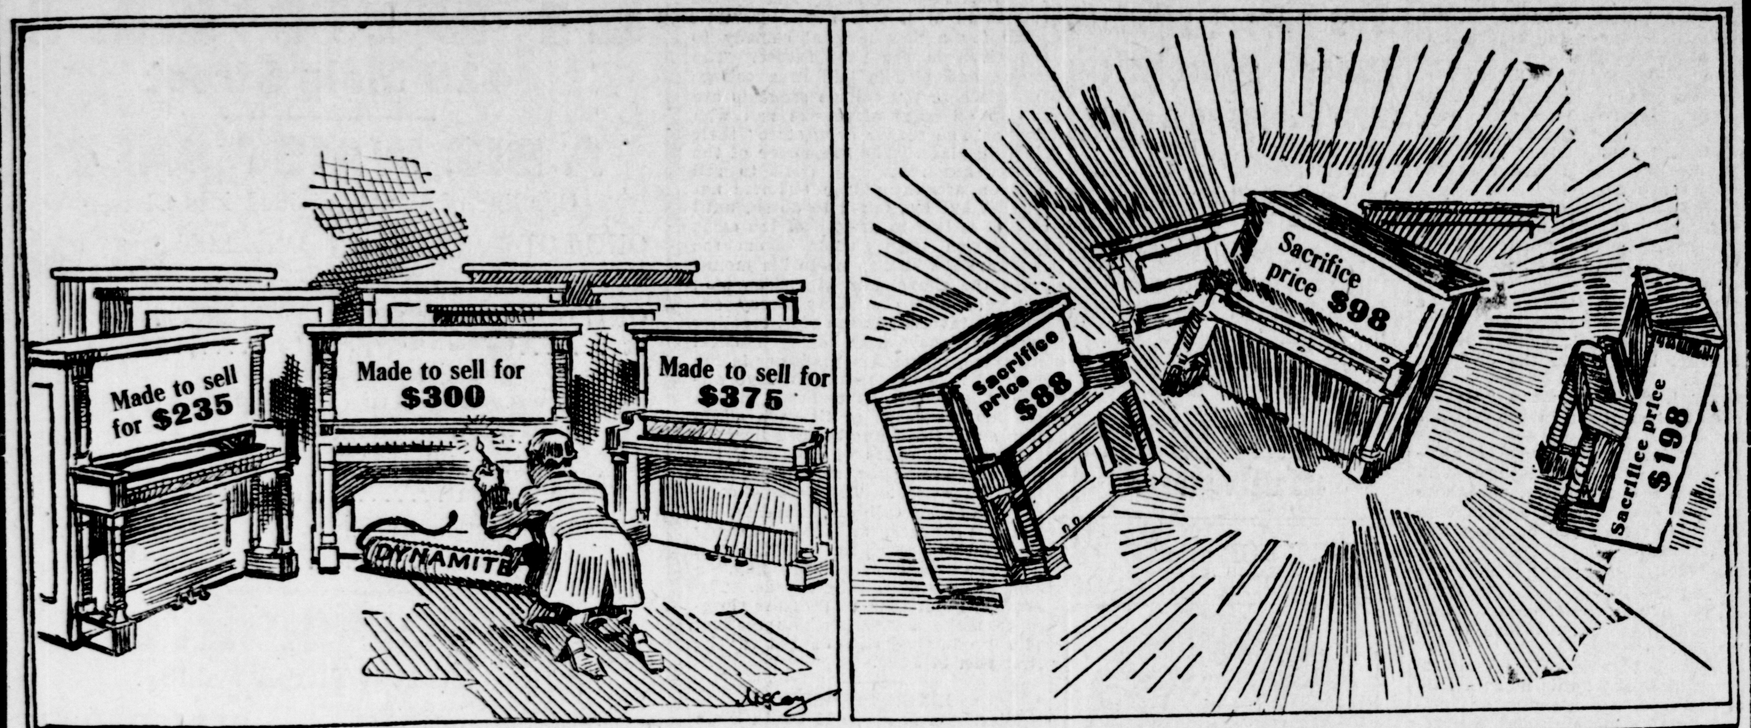

ERIE, Pa., May 23.—With a revolver clasped in one hand a wedding ring in the other, Jacob Demerle was found early today mortally wounded, while close by lay the body of Marie James, with whom Demerle had fallen in love. Infatuated with the young woman, Demerle had climbed a porch post into her room, shot her to death and sent a bullet into his own brain. He died two hours later at a hospital. The friend of Demerle said they understood Miss James had promised to marry Demerle, but last night refused him.

Trapped by a Picture.

A Hungarian burglar who was once a painter of considerable repute was ransacking a house when he came across the portrait of a very beautiful young woman which had been left unfinished by the artist. He began to add the finishing touches to the picture and was discovered hard at work by the owner of the house, who promptly sent for the police.

MANUFACTURERS' CLOSING OUT SALE

PIANO PRICES DYNAMITED!

and the people have certainly awakened to the fact that there are great bargains to be had at our Manufacturers' Closing Out Sale of Pianos and Player Pianos. We have been swamped with customers who were at first skeptical, but after talking with friends and neighbors who had already purchased the same make of instruments of local dealers here, now realize the extraordinary values we are offering and returned to buy without hesitation. Remember this stock is nearly all brand new, recently shipped direct from the factory to Twin City dealers, who cancelled their orders after the Pianos had been shipped. They were held up and unloaded at La Crosse to be disposed of for what they would bring. We have a few slightly used and second hand pianos taken in exchange for players.

A FEW OF OUR MANY BARGAINS:

Chicago Music Co. $59	WHITNEY $98	HAZELTON $160	ELLSWORTH $76	$600 PLAYER PIANO $245
EMERSON $125				MONARCH $210
HAMILTON $297				ST. REGIS $165
NELSON $138	$700 PLAYER PIANO $397	VALLEY GEM $185	KREMLIN $110	HOWARD $248

A few years ago a man made a wager that he could stand at one end of Brooklyn bridge and offer $5 gold pieces for $25 cents, and not one out of the crowds that passed would buy—he won his wager!

Now you who need a piano in your home, are you one of the "Doubting Thomas" kind that will let the opportunity slip by, or will you be wise enough to investigate these bargains? Don't you think you owe this much, at least, to yourself and family?

On Monday afternoon, after scrool the two best class teams in the high school league, the juniors and sophomores fought for the championship of the school. In a drizzling rain the junior team won by a score of seven to four. The sophomores had a very hard time to get four scores. Three of them being made directly on errors by their opponents who seemed to have an exceedingly hard time to hang on to a wet ball. Sickles threw for the juniors and got 14 strikeouts. The next game will be the faculty-senior game which promises to be very interesting and it will be the only chance to see men of big league caliber on the high school diamond this year. There are five aspirants for the pitching box all of whom are proficient in this line.

CHORUS GIRLS ARE OF THREE TYPES

Gay Ones Pluggers and Ambitious Make Up Roster of Every Show

GAY ONES MOSTLY SHOW GIRLS

Naughty-naughty Damsels Are the Ones Who Are Chosen for Queenly Figures

BY BEAU RIALTO
(Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, May 20.—The chorus girl, like Gaul, est omnes divisa in partes tres. There are three general divisions into which the entire crop of the Broadway peach may scientifically be put. There is the girl who goes into the chorus "to have a good time," and perhaps pick on some careless young millionaire until he proposes the time honored automobile dash to a sleepy justice in Jersey; the girl who can sing and dance and finds chorus work a much easier way of earning a living than juggling plates of "beef and" or slaving in a department store, and prospective Alice Nielson or Julia Marlowe, who enters the chorus "for the experience," but who really intends to have her name in white letters on "Beeway" before many moons have waxed and waned.

Gay Girl Minority

The gay girl is mentioned first, not because she is in the majority, but for the reason that it is through her sensational exploits that the general public has come to judge all three divisions. As a matter of fact the girl who goes on the stage merely as a medium for the exploitation of her charmes and the attainment of a large clientele of spendthrift admirers is in a small minority. She exists almost entirely in New York city, from which "heaven" she refuses to depart. When the musical play in which she has been disporting on Broadway starts for the "provinces" this queenly young person resigns her position and is almost immediately re-engaged for the next Broadway production.

By far the largest of the three divisions is that of those girls who have found the chorus a means of earning a decent living under more or less fascinating conditions. They hae little or no ambition to advance in the "profession" but are content to work from season to season, whether in New York or on the road, saving what money they can and taking life as they find it. The good, the bad and the indifferently good and bad are here to be found in an inextricable jumble. They are no worse and no better than they would have been had they continued to hold their jobs in the restaurant, department store or business office.

Ambitious are Good

It is only the third division, among the ambitious ones, that one finds a prevailing atmosphere of strict virtue. Nine out of ten of this small class of chorus girls live simple, serious lives. Their path to and from the theater is the shortest cut from the stage door to their homes and their leisure time is spent in taking vocal or dancing lessons or rehearsing in the privacy of their homes bits from the latest feminine roles which have stirred Broadway. They are as primly puritanical a lot as is to be found in any of the more conventional walks of life. They take their ofttimes pathetic ambitions as seriously as their determination recognized by their fellow players, managers and even the social birds of prey that flutter around the stage door, than are they allowed to pursue their rigidly proper course unmolested.

In fact it often happens that a girl of this type forms an intimate association with one of the gaudy butterflies with whom she shares a dressing room or, with whom she "doubles" the hotel when on the road. In such cases the less impeccable partner of this strange combination exercises a duennaship that is often ferocious in its intensity. With almost maternal anxiety she watches over her charge and woe unto the stage door "Johnnie" who unwarily makes his time honored or rather dishonored advances.

"Regulars" or "Johns"

To the chorus girl the masculine world is divided into two classes, and only two. A man is a "regular" fellow or a "John." He cannot be both. The regular fellow is any man who obviously works for his living and whose association with the chorus girl is based either on professional grounds or the terms of a true and unreserved "palship." With such an acquaintance the average chorus girl will prefer to partake of a cheese sandwich and a bottle of beer in some modest side street restaurant, than sup sumptuously at a Lobster palace with a "John." That is to say, when she is in the mood for real confidences or sympathy she instinctively turns to the "regular fellow." With him she feels on terms of intellectual and social sympathy. He may be a humble stage mechanic, chorus man, "small part" actor or even a newspaper man of an easy adaptability to any environment or companionship.

Whosoever and whatever the "regular fellow" may be, it is to him that the chorus girl turns for real relaxation. She knows that he doesn't mind being seen with her by anyone in the city, that he is not with her merely as a lark and that his interest in her is real and possibly permanent.

Of those girls who go on the stage solely for the purpose of "having a good time" by far the greater number are to be found among those visions of the four arts—nature, milliner and beauty doctor—the "show girls." These statuesque beauties are the queens of the chorus world. They are valuable assets to any musical attraction since they appeal to the women theater goers as living models for the exploitation of the denirest crie from Rue de la Paix and to the men for obvious reasons. The larger the following of masculine admirers a show girl has in New York the more money she can command from her manager and the easier it is for her to pick her "shows" and stay on Broadway season after season.

Unfortunately the men who is too proud to beg isn't always too honest to steal.

Stomach on a Strike

We all ask too much of our stomachs. For days, weeks and months we eat at irregular hours, overload our stomachs, eat too rapidly and are careless as to whether our food is well cooked or digestible. So far as the stomach is concerned, we show it little or no consideration until one day we find that the stomach has gone on a strike. We sit back in despair. The stomach is rebellious to the degree in which we have abused it. No amount of coaxing, careful dieting and regular hours for eating have the least effect.

The proper treatment for stomach trouble is understood by very few sufferers. The symptoms seem to show that something is wrong with the stomach. The trouble in reality is deeper. The loss of appetite, discomfort after eating, nausea, gas and pains have little to do with the stomach or food, but are directly caused by the blood which your careless habits have made impure. The proper treatment then is to build up and cleanse the blood. A thorough trial of will do this well. You can take them with every confidence that they will make your blood new and pure.

Sufferers who have tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills recommend them enthusiastically. A few such endorsements are given in our diet booklet, which will be sent free. It also treats of constipation.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50 or they will be sent, postpaid, upon receipt of price by the

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, May 23.—Excited advances in corn and oats influenced the wheat pit today and the trade was bullish on the theory that crop conditions cannot improve before the harvest, and that any change must work for the bull side of the market. This feeling sent each month up ½ to ¾c today, but toward noon May was easier and declined to 91⅝c, the closing price of yesterday. July held firm at 90⅝c, an advance of ⅜c over last night's closing.

The upward turn in the corn market was based on light offerings and the depletion of many stocks. Prices rose ¾ to ⅞c during the morning.

Oats prices scored sharp gains, shorts bidding up the options when offerings were light. May gained ¾c and July ½c during the morning.

Provisions started easier on lower hog prices but firmed later in the morning.

Wheat was sharply lower in the afternoon, each month dropping ⅝c. The market closed at low figures for the day.

Corn was affected by the easier tone of the wheat pit and declined after noon, but closed higher than the day's opening.

Oats held at about the noon prices.

Provisions continued to make moderate gains in the afternoon and the list closed strong.

Gotham Linen Merchant Is Caught at Old Trick of Libelling Men in Public Eye

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Because he has not kept his promise to Justice Banard of the district court, Henry W. A. Page, the New York linen merchant, convicted a year ago of criminal libel for assailing the New York judiciary, members of congress and other public officials, must serve his sentence of five years in the penitentiary and pay a fine of $1,000.

At the time he was sentenced, Judge Banard placed Page on probation, on the merchant's promise not to continue his attacks on public men. Last Saturday, there arrived at the white house by express a document of 113 pages apparently sent by Page. It reiterated in part the linen merchant's former charges.

Secretary Tumulty turned the matter over to the district attorney and Justice Banard held that Page had not lived up to his promise. The United States marshal at New York was instructed to arrest Page. Unless he fights extradition, Page will be immediately taken to the federal penitentiary at Stillwater, Minn., to serve his sentence.

Page's troubles dated from divorce proceedings instituted by his wife in New York in 1907. She obtained the separation and Page immediately began his attack on the justices, charging corruption. He called the house judiciary committee "crooks" when they refused to intervene in the matter, and circulated a number of pamphlets, which Justice Banard declared were libelous.

CAMPAIGN NEARS END

MADISON, Wis., May 23.—(Special.)—The campaign to raise $35,000 to clear the Y. M. C. A. of the University of Wisconsin from the debt on its building is nearing an end. Over $15,000 was raised in Madison and $8,000 in Milwaukee, Chicago and numerous Wisconsin cities. Committees in Milwaukee and Chicago are still at work. The campaign has been directed by Chief Justice J. B. Winslow, chairman of the board of trustees; Prof. M. V. O'Shea, chairman of the board of directors; Emerson Ela, chairman of the campaign committee, and Frank H. West, general secretary of the association.

The Fame of a Journalist

Louis Brownlow was born in what may be described as the backwoods down south. In the course of time, he straightened his plumage, flapped his wings, and sailed out into the cold and dreary world to collect himself finance and fame. He landed on a newspaper in a southern city, and made so good on his job that his articles were plastered under his signature across the front page of his journal every day.

After he had felt for several months the thrill of uplifting humanity and having people come up to him and tell him what a fine writer, deep thinker, and excellent judge of human nature he was, he went back home. So far as he was able to determine, he was a sunburst on the horizon of journalism and fame had hung about his form all the lights and illuminations possible.

"Louis," asked one of the old men at the grocery store, speaking with a pronounced drawl and caressing his long, thin whiskers, "what be your line of endeavor?"

"The newspaper business," replied Brownlow, distinctly proud.

"Well, Louis," pursued the patriarch, "be you a-sellin' of the papers or a-settin' of the type?"—Popular Magazine.

Close Calculation

She had engaged a girl. At the end of their first day together the maid was instructed to mount the step-ladder and wind the tall fourteen-day clock. "You have to turn the keey fourteen times to wind it clear up," said the mistress. "Once for each day the clock runs." The maid turned the key seven times, then stepped down. "Why didn't you finish?" her mistress asked. "Because," said the girl, "I am not sure I shall be here longer than one week, and I am not going to do the next girl's work."

Not Entirely

"Have you lived here all your life?" asked a drumer of a lean, lantern-jawed Tennessee mountaineer, who stood idly leaning against a rail fence.

The mountaineer shifted his weight from one foot to the other and replied:

"Not yit."—Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

Cut the Cost of Living!

A plate of hot biscuits or muffins, a fresh, home-baked cake, a loaf of brown or nut-bread, rescues any meal from the commonplace, and more expensive things are never missed.

NO MANEUVERS FOR SPARTA THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON, May 23.—No general military maneuvers will be held this year on the national military reservation and rifle range at Sparta, Wis., it was announced today at the war department. The number of troops now scattered along the Mexican border, it was stated, leaves too few men at the regular posts to permit the regular maneuvers.

Unrecognizable

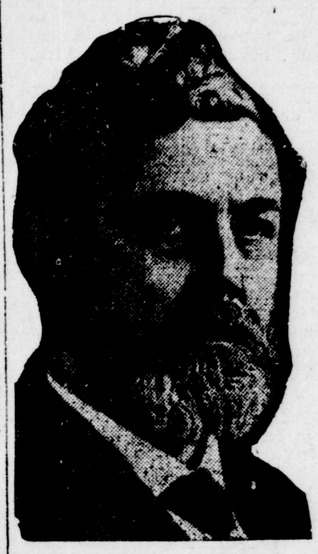

"Now, sir," said the photographer to Little Binks, "just try to look pleasant for a moment—"

"Oh, no, John, don't!" interrupted Mrs. Binks. "This photograph is for my mother, and she'd never recognize you if you were to look pleasant."—Judge.

MORE POWER TO BOARD OF HEALTH

MADISON, Wis., May 23.—Greater enlarged powers will be given to the state board of health under a substitute bill which has been drafted for the Peavey bill reorganizing the board, and which has been agreed to by Assemblyman Peavey. Although the original bill contemplated the abolition of the present health board and its secretaryship, the new bill merely enlarges the powers of the present board, and it provides machinery for doing more extensive work in the prevention of tuberculosis, and for co-operation with the medical school at the university.

Many a slow man develops into a sprinter when he has a chance to run into debt.

"Old Soldier" writes: "I would like to know what to do for rheumatism, as I am so crippled that I cannot walk. Please answer at once."

Answer: Here is the best remedy for rheumatism that is known, and if taken according to directions you will soon be out again and be strong and well. Get 2 drams of iodide of potassium; 4 drams sodium salicylate; one-half oz. wine of colchicum; 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort, and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla comp. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again before going to bed.

"Laura" says: "Some time ago I contracted a very severe cold and cough. I have tried many remedies, but they do not seem to help me at all. I wish you would advise me what to do."

Answer: What you need is a laxative cough syrup, one that will drive the cold from your system. The following prescription will cure your cold and cough: Get a 2½ oz. package of concentrated essence menthol-laxene and make according to directions on the bottle. Take a teaspoonful every hour or two or until your cold is better. This will cure you in a very few days.

"Stenographer" writes: "I can scarcely do my work on account of the terrible distress in my stomach after eating. I have a heavy feeling in my stomach and gas forms. I am also constipated."

Answer: This condition if neglected will cause appendicitis. You should begin at once and take tablets triopeptine, which can be bought in any drug store at small cost. They are packed in sealed cartons with full directions accompanying the package. I am sure many cases of appendicitis could be prevented by the use of triopeptine.

"A. R." writes: "Please send me a prescription for a good tonic. I am weak and languid all the time, have no appetite and cannot sleep at night."

Answer: Obtain the following ingredients from your druggist and take for several weeks and you will be strong and healthy. Syrup of hypophosphites comp., 5 ozs.; tincture cadomene comp., 1 oz. (not cardamom), and take a teaspoonful before each meal. Shake well before taking.

Miss Beatrice asks: "Will you please prescribe for one who is too fleshy so that about 30 pounds can be taken off?"

Answer: Obtain of any well-stocked druggist a tube of 5-grain arbolene tablets and take regularly as per directions accompanying same. Many of my patients have reduced at the rate of a pound a day without any ill results.

"Unhappy May" writes: "I suffer constantly with headaches, indigestion and kidney trouble. My skin is pimply and oily."

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Answer: Three grain sulphur tablets (not sulphur tablets) is the best known remedy for the blood. They are made from sulphur, cream of tartar and herb medicines which act directly on the blood, purifying it, thus causing the pimples to disappear and the skin to become fresh and healthy looking. These sulphur tablets are packed in sealed tubes and can be bought at any drug store. They will also cure your kidney trouble and indigestion.

"Mrs. O."—The best remedy for bedwetting in children is to give them 10 to 15 drops in water before meals of the following: Tincture cubebs, 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic, 1 drams, and comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.

"Audry" writes: "For the past year I have suffered greatly with catarrh. It has affected my blood, stomach and bowels to such an extent that I suffer constantly. Can you tell me a cure?"

Answer: I heartily recommend the use of antiseptic vilane powder for the cure of catarrh. First ask your druggist for a 2 oz. package of vilane powder; then thoroughly cleanse the nostrils with the following wash. One-half teaspoonful of the powder to a pint of warm water. Use this several times a day by snuffing the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils; after which make a balm by mixing a teaspoonful of vilane powder with one ounce of lard or vaseline and apply to the nostrils daily. Internal treatment for the stomach, bowels and blood should be used. Syrup sarsaparilla comp., 4 ozs.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; fluid ext. buchu, 1 oz. Mix and shake well and take a teaspoonful four times a day.

"Sorrowful May" says: "My scalp is covered with dandruff, my hair is oily and straggling. Please help me so that I may look like other girls."

Answer: You can very easily "look like other girls" if you will get at the drug store a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow minyol and use it regularly according to the directions given. It will cure your dandruff and make your hair soft and fluffy and make it grow. This treatment differs from all others and I have actually seen the most wonderful transformations when people have used this only two or three times.

"Ann" writes: "Could you prescribe something to increase my weight? I am tall and thin to an embarrassing degree that I am frequently subjected to slighting remarks."

Answer: Hypo-Nuclane tablets have been prescribed with great success as indicated by gratifying letters from hundreds of girls who suffer as you do. These tablets can be purchased in sealed packages from any well-stocked drug store and full directions are given inside. They should be taken regularly for about two months, and you will be surprised to note the color in your cheeks and lips and your weight will increase from 15 to 30 pounds.
